

THAT 31 years ago, when Circleville's first Pumpkin Show was getting underway, Pickaway-co was known the country over for the fine race horses it was producing.

One of the chief attractions at the first show was the exhibition of two of the native prize horses, the property of the late T. C. Millar and Benjamin F. Yates, of this city.

"Brownie Wilton," a fine stallion and product of Mr. Millar's South Bloomfield farm, made an unprecedented record in three straight seasons beginning in 1902, culminating in his feat at the Lexington, Ky., tracks in the fall of 1904 when he made a mark of 2:10 in the third heat of the principal race.

The champion sire in Pickaway-co, "Sir Liss," was owned by Mr. Yates and had 49 colts, all of which trotted a mile in 2:25 or better, some much lower.

He said: "Brownie" was bred and raised in this county and it was here that he received his earliest training. He first saw the light of day in 1897 on the Millar stock farm at South Bloomfield, son of the great sire, Wilton, the property of W. H. Albough and H. S. Lewis."

Noted throughout the length and breadth of the land for the speed he produced, there was not a single trotting horse in the country which had a better record than "Brownie." During the season of 1902 Millar's horse was in 13 races, in six of which he took first money, captured three seconds and the same number of firsts and failed to get money in only one.

IN 1902 he was in nine races and took five firsts, one second and three thirds, losing out in only one heat. His campaign in 1904, climaxed with the brilliant showing at the Lexington tracks, started in Columbus on Sept. 20, during the Grand Circuit meet. "Brownie" won the third heat of the race in 2:12 1/2 and came back in the fourth to beat Main Land, a real star.

"Brownie's" next start was at the Ockley races in Cincinnati, winning three events. Then in his next meet at the Lexington tracks he made the record of the season. His premiums in the four races amounted to more than $2,000, no small sum in those days.

Mr. Yates' horse, "Sir Liss," one of the greatest of its kind in the United States was the sire of five horses valued at more than $15,000. In this list was included India Prince, which took second at the Madison Square Garden exhibition in New York City in the fall of 1904. "Sir Liss" and daughter, "Midnight" were also exhibited at the first Pumpkin Show.

Many other fine horses were raised in this county, including those of the late Cary Short and Joseph Smith of Sunny-side. Space is not available to give a full account of their records.

That three persons came more than 5,000 miles to see this year's Pumpkin Show. They were Mrs. Lida Jacobson and daughter, Jonna, and son, Glenn, of Aarhus, Denmark, who were Thursday's visitors here. Mrs. Jacobson is a niece of Mr. Einar Jensen, of Washington C. H.

CLOUDY SKIES GREET CROWD ON FINAL DAY

Pet and Old Vehicle Parades to Conclude Week's Program

WINNERS TO PARADE

Drummers Come in For Share of Action

Overcast skies threatened to mar the closing activities of Circleville's thirty-first Pumpkin Show but the threat of rain did not keep hundreds of persons from crowding into the city early today.

Two parades were on the schedule in the afternoon and evening to conclude the biggest show in recent years. The ever popular pet parade was the afternoon feature while the Old Vehicle parade was the evening's headliner with a prize winner's parade to follow that.

A large number of entries was reported in both events.

MANY HERE FRIDAY

Friday's crowd was mammoth with perfect weather again prevailing. Both the parades were splendid with bands performing at their best. An added attraction was seen in the evening parade when the Bremen American Legion drum corps took part in the parades. The local drum corps headed by the Hunn boy from Cincinnati in another new outfit also came in for its share of comment. The two drum corps joined on W. Main-st for a little entertainment and "blasted" some fine drum and bugle music for a large crowd.

All the rides were enjoying much patronage.

The free acts continue to draw crowds and all have been termed the best in years.

NEW RIOTING SWEEPS SPAIN

Madrid Seething Battlefield With Many More Deaths Reported.

MADRID, Oct. 6.—Madrid, which had been quiet throughout the night and morning in Spain's revolutionary general strike, was turned into a seething battlefield this afternoon as brutal, fatal fighting broke out throughout the city.

Two guards and several strikers were killed and many were wounded as a mob of the rebels attempted to capture a civil guards barracks in the heart of the capital.

One man was killed and two wounded in further clashes between guards and strikers in the Guatrocaminos district, and many were wounded in other parts of the city as employers attempted to hire strikebreakers.

The government backed the employers. The bitter fighting was expected to spread rapidly.

Let the Great Dizzy Sign It

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—Tex Carleton today, is often mistaken for Dizzy Dean to whom he bears some resemblance. A young lady so mistook Tex after the game yesterday when she asked him to autograph her program.

"Won't you please sign my program, Mr. Dean?" she asked sweetly.

"Say, do I look like that guy?" said Tex gruffly.

"I'll say you don't. Not out on that hill," said the one and only Dizzy who was just behind Tex and overheard the remark. "Here, miss, the great Dizzy will sign that for you." And he did.

MRS. SCHUMM HURT

Mrs. A. D. Schumm, E. Main-st., fell and suffered a fractured wrist Friday afternoon.

W. H. Lee, of Columbus, fell into a cellarway at 202 W. Main-st and had minor injuries Friday night.

Miss Pumpkin Show

Miss Anderson

Miss Anderson, selected over 19 other contestants, is Miss Pumpkin Show and has been riding in each parade as such. A prize of $50 was awarded her by the Pumpkin Show society.

FORTY JOIN IN COMIC PARADE

Anna Dresbach and Clark Child Win First Prizes In Fine Parade.

Forty entries were listed in a splendid comic and characterization parade Friday evening with Misses Minnie Lyle and Peggy Courtwright in charge of the contest. The parade was a long one and pleasing to the great crowd.

Its judges were Robert Ferguson, Detroit; Ed Sanderson, Hillsboro, and Mrs. Gilbert Monroe, Portsmouth.

COMIC

First, Anna Dresbach, dressed as a scare-crow;

Second, Lloyd Dumm, walking on stilts;

Third, Mrs. Mary Pickle and Rachel Pickle as a colored couple;

Fourth, Helen Given as a colored woman with a small child.

CHARACTERIZATION

First, Billy Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Clark, Jr., as a boxer in his ring;

Second, Mrs. Blanche Motschman as Mae West;

Third, A. E. Welch, as a pioneer;

Fourth, Carl Dolly, Doris and Betty Riffe as hunters.

TREATED FOR CUTS

Winfred Fraley, 19, of Ashland, Ky., was treated at Berger hospital for lacerations of the face Friday evening after a traffic accident near this city.

$5 STAMPS STOLEN

Five dollars worth of stamps were stolen from the office of George McDowell, superintendent of Pickaway-co schools, Friday noon by thieves who pried open a door then broke locks on two roll-top desks.

HOSPITAL NEWS

Mrs. Carl Leist and baby boy were to be removed home from Berger hospital Saturday.

McCOLLISTER NOT EVEN IN ACCIDENT

A report circulated freely that F. M. McCollister, manager of the Kroger store on W. Main-st, was killed in an automobile wreck Friday night, is untrue. Mr. McCollister is on the job today and is having a "peach of time" convincing friends he is not a ghost. He wasn't even in an accident.

150 BABIES SET RECORD

Mrs. Morris' Event Best Ever; Competition Difficult On Judges.

The baby parade and show, directed by Mrs. Mary G. Morris and Miss Mary Armstrong, set a precedent Friday afternoon with upward of 150 children entered. This figure surpassed any previous baby parade and show by more than 20 children.

The task of judging this parade was a difficult one but it was ably handled by Miss Virginia Lee Orr, Kingston; Mrs. Gilbert Monroe, Portsmouth; Mrs. H. C. Elkins, Oswego, N. Y.; Miss C. H. Morris, Cleveland; Mrs. John W. McCrady, Uhrichsville, and Mrs. Frank Rowe, Athens.

The largest individual class in the parade was for babies between one and two years of age where 43 were enrolled.

BOWERS BABY FIRST

First prize in the event for babies under one year went to James Bowers, son of Mrs. and Mrs. Donald Bowers, Washington-twp. Second was Donald Eugene Rhoads, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Rhoads, Logan-st, third was Thomas Wells, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Wells, Water-st, this city, while Jimmy Wallace, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wallace, E. Union-st, was fourth.

Eight colored children under one year were entered with Richard Leon Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Thomas, 212 S. Pickaway-st, taking the major prize. Hazel Joece Thomas was second, Charles Edward Johnson third, and Joanne Lewis, fourth.

Patty Lou Moats, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Moats, S. Court-st, was first in the division for white babies between one and two years. Second was Marlene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Steele; third was James Walter Greenlee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Greenlee, Town-st, and fourth went to Abner Francis

HELWAGEN YOUTH WINS AMERICAN LEGION'S MONEY

Kenneth Helwagen, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Helwagen, won the $5 first prize in the American Legion's "perambulator" derby Friday afternoon as a feature of the Pumpkin Show.

Helwagen's vehicle went almost to the Pickaway-st bridge.

Other prizes were won by Carl Bach, $3, and Andrew Turner, $2. There were eight entries and everyone of the boys had a good time.

Ralph Ward was in charge of the affair.

SAMUEL VEAIL DIES

CHILLICOTHE, Oct. 6.—Samuel M. Veail, dean of local bankers and a true friend of man, passed away here Friday. He had been ill several weeks.

Mr. Veail had been president of the First National bank for a number of years.

Youthful Don Juan Must Pay for Crime With Life Jury Decides

COOL AT VERDICT

"American Tragedy" Case Comes to End

WILKES BARRE, Pa., Oct. 6.—Bobby Edwards, 21-year-old small town Don Juan, today was found guilty of first degree murder at 8:19 a. m. by a jury.

The handsome young defendant was charged with slaying Freda McKechnie during a midnight swim in order to marry Margaret Crain of East Aurora, N. Y. Freda was an expectant mother.

The defendant took the verdict which means death in the electric chair without emotion.

The jury received the case at 8:54 p. m. last night.

The courtroom was virtually empty when the death sentence to the young philanderer was brought back by the jurors.

The early hour and a downpouring rain helped to prevent the crowds from jamming the chamber. The clerk of the court intoned:

"Gentlemen of the jury, have you reached a verdict?"

"We have," replied Charles Landis, foreman.

DEATH ORDERED

"We find the defendant Robert Allan Edwards guilty of first degree murder and recommend the death penalty."

Young Edwards, looking well rested from a good night's sleep, took it like ice.

"How do you feel?" one of his counsel asked him sympathetically.

"Very well, thank you," the defendant answered.

He said it in the same tone he might have used in passing the time of day.

MULLINS IS JAILED UNDER $2,000 BOND

Jack Mullins, of Kentucky, was bound over to the grand jury under $2,000 bond Friday afternoon by Mayor W. B. Cady after a not guilty plea to cutting with intent to wound Clarence "Liz" Johnson.

Johnson is in Berger hospital with severe knife wounds.

Several other Kentuckians arrested with Mullins were released.

REPUBLICANS RALLY IN NEW LEXINGTON

Several local Republicans are planning to attend the noon luncheon and night mass Republican meeting at New Lexington, Monday.

Music at the sessions will be furnished by the Perry-co women. Speakers will include Renick W. Dunlap, Pickaway-twp, Republican candidate for congressman from the eleventh district; Louise Adkins, of Newark, chairman of the Women's state campaign committee, and Katherine Kennedy Brown, Dayton, national committee woman from Ohio.

Planning to attend are Mrs. Helen Black Anderson, Mrs. B. T. Hedges, Miss Mary Porter and Miss Anna Florence.

Any other local persons desiring to attend and wish transportation are to notify Mrs. Anderson.

Talks Here Tuesday

Vic Donahey

MANY TO HEAR PARTY CHIEFS

Donahey Leads Speakers Here Tuesday Evening; Adkins In Charge.

Democrats of Pickaway and adjoining counties will rally Tuesday evening at Memorial Hall where A. Vic Donahey, candidate for the United States senate; C. C. Dill, United States senator from Washington state, and Mel G. Underwood, candidate for congress from the 11th Ohio district, will be the principal speakers.

A number of other candidates will be introduced but will not speak. All the county candidates are to be on the platform for introductions.

George G. Adkins, chairman of the Pickaway-co Democratic executive committee, will preside during the evening.

The appearance of Donahey alone is sufficient to guarantee a capacity crowd. Always one of the most popular of campaigners, Donahey has received many votes in Pickaway-co. His vote for the Democratic nomination made the total for that office higher than for the governorship. Donahey is certain to be interesting.

According to information received by Mr. Adkins, Senator Dill is a remarkable speaker. He is a leader in the senate and should provide much color to the meeting.

While Underwood's talk is expected to be brief to allow Donahey and Dill plenty of time, many are looking forward to hearing the congressman.

TWO HEAVY FINES ARE HANDED OUT

Peter Williams and Byron Bivens Sentenced For Liquor Violations.

Common Pleas Judge J. W. Adkins today had served warning to violators of Ohio's liquor control act that very little leniency may be expected if they appear in his court.

Peter Williams, 55, of Derby, arrested a week ago by members of the sheriff's department and state liquor agents on two charges of illegal possession and possessing intoxicating liquor for sale, was fined $500 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in the county jail following his hearing before Judge Adkins Saturday.

Williams was fined $400 and costs on the former charge and received the 30 day jail sentence and $100 fine on the latter complaint.

Represented by George G. Adkins, Williams was committed to the county jail.

Byron Bivens, W. Main-st, who was nabbed the same night of Williams' arrest, was fined $100 and costs on a charge of possessing intoxicating liquor for sale. Last week he pleaded guilty to a charge of illegal possession and was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to jail for 30 days.

FALLS INTO ELEVATOR PIT AT WEAVER STORE

Prominent Civic Leader, General Manager of Wholesale House, Discovered by Wife Who Went to Search for Him; How Accident Happened Puzzles Authorities; Funeral Monday

Homer G. Fullen, 59, general manager of the W. J. Weaver and Son wholesale store, was killed Friday evening by a fall from the first floor of the store through the elevator shaft to the concrete floor of the basement eight feet below. He died of a crushed skull.

Mr. Fullen was found dying by Mrs. Fullen who had gone into the store in search of him when he failed to respond to her call. Dr. C. E. Bowers, who is also county coroner, was summoned by Mrs. Fullen and he in turn called the M. S. Rinehart ambulance. Mr. Fullen gasped his last breaths after the ambulance had taken him as far as High-st while enroute to Berger hospital.

Mr. Fullen's death which shocked the entire city is believed accidental although Coroner Bowers is expected to issue a formal statement. He, with Sheriff Charles Radcliff, went over the Weaver store investigating the tragedy Friday night.

WATCHING PARADE

Mr. and Mrs. Fullen were watching the comic and characterization parade, it is reported, when Mr. Fullen told his wife he didn't feel well, and walked into the store. In a short while Mrs. Fullen went into the store and called her husband. When he failed to respond she turned on more lights and started in search of him. It was she who discovered him lying in a pool of blood at the bottom of the elevator shaft.

Mrs. Fullen displayed masterful self-control to summon their physician. Dr. Bowers came at once and called the ambulance. Mr. Fullen's son, Charles, employee of the Circleville Lumber Co., was summoned and helped remove his father from the elevator shaft. It was only a minute after the ambulance started to the hospital that Dr. Bowers informed Lawrence Stonerock, the driver, that Mr. Fullen had succumbed. They then drove to the Rinehart funeral home.

News of the tragedy circulated like wild fire and scores of friends of the Fullen family telephoned the Rinehart home and homes of other friends to learn if the report was true.

DEATH MYSTERY

How Mr. Fullen came to his death in the elevator shaft is a mystery. Neither Dr. Bowers nor Sheriff Radcliff were able to explain how he might have fallen into the pit, although it is certain that it must have happened.

The elevator used at the store to haul goods was at that time on the second floor where Mr. and Mrs. William Robinson, the former an employee of the wholesale house, were watching the procession. When the elevator goes up, a rail on the first floor automatically goes into place to prevent anyone from stepping into the shaft. There is no reason to believe the rail was not in place when Mr. Fullen entered the store, because persons who entered after the tragedy was discovered said the rail was then in place. It is believed it was in place when Mrs. Fullen discovered her husband.

One theory advanced was that Mr. Fullen had reached up to pull the rope which controls the elevator, possibly to lower it so he could go to the second floor. It was reported he might have fallen over the rail although it is comparatively high probably reaching the chest of a man of normal height. Another theory is that Mr. Fullen might have tried to reach the rope by first pushing the rail up then reaching under it to grasp the rope, and in that way losing his balance and falling into the pit. This does not seem logical although it is possible.

FOUL PLAY THEORY

The theory of foul play was also advanced, some saying that it was possible the store manager found someone in the store who struck him then pushed him over the rail.

It is probable no one will ever know how Mr. Fullen actually did come to his death.

He had been in good health although suffering from a slight cold.

Mrs. Fullen was overcome with grief Friday night but was reported to have rested fairly well during the night.

Mr. Fullen had been general manager of the Weaver store since October, 1929, shortly after

Time for evening service changes from 7:30 to 7:00 p. m.

The pastor will preach the third of a series of sermons on the Book of Revelation Sunday night at 7:00.

The word "church" disappears entirely from this book after the third chapter. That for which the faithful remnant waited, the blessed hope of the Church, has suddenly come to pass. The departure of the true Church from the earth will be as sudden as its beginning (Acts 2). Surely the gathering of all Saints in glory must some day take place. After the true church is with her Lord "What will God do Next?" Come and hear this subject explained Sunday night.

The Church Invites You

THE CHURCH INVITES YOU

Theodore Roosevelt said: "It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbled, or where the door of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena; whose face is marked by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs and comes short again and again; who knows the great enthusiasms, the great devotions and spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievements; and at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly; so that his place shall never be with those weak and timid souls who know neither victory nor defeat."

Why not join the great body of church men and women who are striving together to make the world a more Christ-like place and ACCEPT THE INVITATION TO COME TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY?

WHAT IS THE MISSION OF THE CHURCH IN A CHANGING WORLD?

Dr. John McDowell has said the church's mission is at least five-fold: (1) To submit to the authority of Christ in all matters of belief and teaching; (2) To manifest the spirit of Christ in all its contact and services; (3) To proclaim the message of Christ in terms of life and love to all men, regardless of creed, color or condition; (4) To apply the test of Christ to all relationships and responsibilities; (5) To carry on the work of Christ, namely, making men like Christ, earth like heaven and the kingdoms of this world the Kingdom of Christ.

The Church cannot claim the authority of Christ for any particular form of ecclesiastical government, political policy or economic system. It must insist, however, under all forms of government, policies and systems upon the fundamental demands of Christ for justice, purity and kindness.

Book Review

CAN CHRIST SAVE SOCIETY? by Garvie, The Abingdon Press presents a challenging and stirring picture of our present economic problems and the part Christianity can play in their solution. The author writes with authority from a wealth of personal experiences in the slums of a great city.

The National Committee for Religion and Welfare Recovery, which represents Catholics, Protestants and Jews will conduct a national campaign throughout early October to stimulate contributions to the churches and private charities. October 7 will be "Loyalty Sunday" when efforts will be made to increase church attendance.

The Association of Women Preachers held its 16th annual session at the Miami Valley Chautauque near Dayton, O. in August. About 150 women pastors from all over the United States were present.

The World Baptist Congress gave its approval to a proposal that a world-wide plebiscite be held in forty countries to determine whether the people want to fight another war. The suggestion was made by the Rev. Harold Camp of Oakland, Cal. who said the Kellogg pact should be made the basis of such a vote, all nations which adhered to it taking part.

A Bible, written in longhand, is being compiled by visitors at the World's Fair. Each of 12,000 visitors has copied a verse on durable sheets of paper. The writing is done with indelible ink. The sheets will be bound together and preserved. The verses copied in sequence are being prepared at the rate of about 500 daily.

Following 41 years of teaching at Haverford college, Dr. Rufus Jones retired. He will sail for England this fall where he will engage in research on "The Friends of God" fourteenth mystics, whose writings are scattered about the libraries of Germany.

It is reported that the Moody church, Chicago, supports 73 foreign missionaries.

Only 29 copies of the first edition of the Luther translation of the Bible are known to be in existence. All but four of these are in German libraries.

FELLOWSHIP WITH CHRIST

LESSON TEXT—John 15:1-16.
GOLDEN TEXT—Abide in me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine; no more can ye, except ye abide in me. John 15:4.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus and His Friends.

JUNIOR TOPIC—How to Be Jesus' Friend.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How May We Be Friends of Christ?

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—How to Live a Fruitful Christian Life.

Under the beautiful allegory of the vine and the branches, Jesus set forth the spiritual oneness of himself and his disciples. He showed that though he was going away, they would be in vital touch with their unseen Lord, and that through them his life was to be manifested to the world and his purposes accomplished.

I. The Relationship of the Disciples to Jesus and the Father (vv. 1-3).

1. Jesus is the source of the disciples' life (v. 1). He is the true vine. Through the incarnation Jesus identified himself with humanity, and by virtue of his atoning death and resurrection it is possible for the believer to be a partaker of his life, so that between the disciple and his Lord there is a community of life. As the vine pours its life into the branch, so Christ pours his life into the believer. The life of the believer is a derived life. Whatever is Christ while in him is derived from Christ.

2. The discipline of the disciple is in the hands of the Father (v. 1). The "Father is the husbandman." Just as the culture of the vine is in the hands of a husbandman, so the discipline of the believer's life is in the hands of the Father. He knows exactly how deep to cut with his pruning knife, and can be absolutely trusted to cut no deeper than necessary, for he is our affectionate Father. In this disciplinary process he

a. Removes the unfruitful branch (v. 2). He does not take the trouble to prune the fruitless branch—the nominal church member; the more professor he removes.

b. Purges the fruitful branch that it may produce more fruit (v. 2). He restrains our natural tendencies and desires in order that the virtues of the Lord, the fruit of the Spirit, may shine forth.

3. The instrument by which the discipline is accomplished is Jesus' words (v. 3). If the believer's life is to be fruitful in character and service, the pruning knife, Christ's words, must be intelligently and regularly applied.

II. The Conditions of Fruit-bearing (v. 4-7).

The supreme and grand object in pruning the vine is fruit. God's whole design in producing the vine and making men branches thereof was to obtain fruit, more fruit, much fruit.

1. Abiding in Christ (vv. 4-6). As the branches draw sap and life from the vine, so believers must abide in Christ, from whom they derive their purity, strength, and wisdom. Indeed, it is a mutual abiding—the disciple in Christ, and Christ in the disciple. It is really Christ's life expressing itself through the believer.

2. Christ's words abiding in us (v. 7). So mighty is the power of the one who abides in Christ and in whom the words of Christ abide, that Heaven can withhold no gift from him. In fact, the one who is united in Christ by faith and prayerfully meditates upon his words will be so led by the Spirit to pray as to have success without limit (Col. 3:16).

III. The Blessed Issue of a Fruitful life (vv. 8-16).

LOST 20 LBS. OF FAT IN JUST 4 WEEKS
Mrs. Mae West of St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I'm only 28 years old and weighed 170 lbs. until taking one box of your Kruschen Salts just 4 weeks ago. I now weigh 150 lbs. I also have more energy and furthermore I've never had a hungry moment."
Fat folks should take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—it's the SAFE, harmless way to reduce as tens of thousands of men and women know.
For your health's sake ask for and get Kruschen at any drugstore—the cost for a bottle that lasts 4 weeks is but a trifle and if after the first bottle you are not joyfully satisfied with results—money back.

Our Bands' Scouts

It is with extreme pride that Circleville Pumpkin Show enthusiasts watch its two school bands march. We doubt if there is a city in Ohio the size of Circleville which can boast of two musical organizations as competent and able as those representing our schools.

Both bands have performed each day of the Pumpkin Show and the impression they have made has been lasting. Many words of praise have come from the lips of out-of-town visitors as the two units go about their duties as seasons veterans.

Both bands were made possible by financial support from the Pumpkin Show society and they have amply repaid this organization for the confidence placed in them.

Boy and Girl scouts have been noble parts of this fine Pumpkin Show. They have assisted in handling the enormous crowds, have opened lines for the parades and have done many other things worthy of comment.

We hope General Johnson doesn't get lonesome for someone to crack down on.

General Cleanups Needed

In Floyd-co, Ky., seven persons have been indicted on charges of fraudulently converting a total of $122,500 in federal relief money. The defendants include the mayor of Prestonburg, a county judge and a minister.

Widespread irregularities in connection with the administration of federal relief are reported to exist in Chicago and Cook-co, Ill., with thousands of persons being on relief rolls who are not entitled to have their names there. Similar reports come from other sections of the country.

Federal Relief Administrator Hopkins recently asserted that conditions such as indicated in Kentucky and Chicago prevailed to a large extent in relief work as now being carried on.

The matter is one that should call for prompt action by the proper authorities. If the Kentucky indictments mean that a general cleanup has been begun, they are of far more than local importance. Millions of dollars of taxpayers' money is going ostensibly into relief work. How much of this is finding its way into dishonest pockets is a question of vital interest to the public, which foots the relief bills.

The guilt or innocence of those indicted in Kentucky is a question for a jury to decide. But no leniency should be shown in any case where relief funds have been improperly used.

Construction Rises

FAILURE of the construction industry to show signs of revival has been one of the discouraging features with the recovery program.

That a change is beginning to show itself now gives a brighter coloring to the picture.

According to Dun and Bradstreet, in a review of 215 cities, building permits issued during August totaled in value $34,000,000. This represented an increase of 1 1/2 per cent over July. The rise, although small, takes on more importance than the figures would seem to justify when it is remembered that the gain was made at a season when, normally, there is a decline. Further significance is given it also in the fact that the August figures were 6.3 per cent greater than the figures for the same month last year.

A general revival of the construction industry would be felt in many related fields and would give a decided boost to general recovery. The August increase may indicate that the long-expected upward turn in building has begun, and that a more rapid rise from now on will occur. If so, its importance hardly can be overestimated.

"DEATH SONG"

by JOAN CLAYTON AND MALCOLM LOGAN

SYNOPSIS

Seifert Vail, former opera singer, is stabbed to death in Lakeside Cottage of exclusive Sherwood Forest Sanatorium. Vail brooded constantly over his wife's death. He continuously played the phonograph record "Waiting For You," his wedding theme sung in his own voice. This record was playing at the time of his death. A maid discovered Vail's body in bed when he went into his room to turn off the record. Willis Clendening, Milton Cross and James Ruxton, the millionaire, share the cottage with Vail. Ruxton's favorite nephew and heir, Loren Ruxton, and Dr. John Calvert are rivals for the affections of Sue Faraday, a nurse. Mark Hillyer, the playwright, crippled from arthritis and bored by the monotony of sanatorium life, welcomes a little excitement. He sends his secretary, Bob Fowler, to investigate the trouble at Lakeside Cottage. It is discovered that Vail's room has a private entrance which opens directly on the grounds. Dr. Calvert claims Vail had been dead an hour before the phonograph started playing. Sheriff Dave Finn arrives. Ruxton changed rooms with Vail the day before as Vail was expecting a guest he was anxious to receive secretly, which the private entrance in Ruxton's room afforded. Clendening discloses that Vail received a letter from New York two days before his death. The police locate some photographs but no letter. An empty revolver is found in Vail's room. Felipa, the maid, is questioned. She had come out of Vail's room screaming that he had been murdered even though the body was covered with a sheet and she could not see the wounds. Felipa appears to be withholding information.

CHAPTER XI

The rumpled condition of Mark's bedclothes and the wild disorder of his pale, thin hair witnessed that he had been waiting impatiently for my return from Lakeside Cottage. As soon as I stepped into the room he said, "What did you do, stay for tea?"

"No," I answered, "for the sheriff. Vail was murdered."

"You're telling me?" Mark jeered. "I found that out without leaving my bed. What I want to know is how, why and by what benefactor of society?"

"Why weren't you able to find that out too?" I asked, somewhat irritated by the calm way in which he had received my news. "Sorry, Bob," Mark said. "I shouldn't have craved your big scene, but it's still a fat part. Let's hear the story."

"All right," Vail stammered, "that's how he was killed. You'll have to ask the sheriff your two other questions."

"You don't seem very convinced that the sheriff will be able to answer them."

"All right," I said. "It's got more complications than one of your melodramas, Mark. Vail was stabbed to death in his room during rest period."

"During rest period?" he asked, heavily accenting the first word. "Yes, that's one of the complications. I told him, then, everything I had learned in my hour at the cottage. He listened intently and did not interrupt me once, though he fidgeted uneasily and smoked one cigarette after another. I told him of the expected visitor; of the phonograph record that began to play an hour after he had been killed; of the change of rooms and the private entrance to Vail's room; of Felipa's strange certainty that he had been murdered and of the unloaded revolver in his bureau. When I had concluded, he expressed his opinion in a long, low whistle."

"Well, I asked for it," he said, "and I got it."

"Now you've got it," I asked, "what are you going to do with it?"

"Find out what it's all about," he answered.

"I've known you, man and boy, for twenty years, and I never knew you were a detective."

"I'm just in the process of becoming one—the only bedridden detective in history." He stretched his arms vigorously. "At last Vail's justified his existence. At last something's happened! I feel like I've been let out of prison! When I find the guy who erased Vail I'll probably kiss him."

I am certain I would have expressed some moral and disapproving opinion about his joyful reaction to murder if Sue had not entered and informed me with as much severity as she could command that I had stayed ten minutes past visiting hour.

"Come back after dinner," Mark said. "I've got lots of things to talk to you about."

expecting a dangerous guest, or he'd have had his revolver loaded and handy."

There was a knock at the door and at Mark's bidding John Calvert entered. Mark beamed at him. "Hello, John. Sit down and join us. Can you guess what we're talking about?"

The doctor smiled wearily. "The murder," he said. "You seem to be enjoying it. Every patient here thinks Vail was murdered for his diversion."

"It's natural, John, in a place where there's nothing to do. I'm interested, myself—so interested that I've decided to solve it. Tell me, John, what do you know about Vail?"

"All I can remember is how alive and expressive she was physically," said Calvert.

When I returned in the hot evening Mark resumed our conversation as though it had been interrupted only a minute.

"I've been thinking about Vail and realizing that I know practically nothing about him. He was a disagreeable egotistic misanthrope who used to sing in the opera. His wife died, he lost his voice and he came to Sherwood Forest, existing here without any visible means of support. Pretty meagre, isn't it?"

"Rather," I said.

"And another thing. For two years he talked about himself to anyone who would listen. Then suddenly he became secretive. He loved to be gossiped about, but he decided he had to receive his visitor in utmost privacy. To accomplish that, he persuaded Ruxton to change rooms with him."

"I'm not sure the letter was so important," Mark answered. "Is it probable that Vail would go to such lengths to keep the others in Lakeside from seeing a visitor from New York? They wouldn't be likely to know any of Vail's acquaintances from New York, but they would recognize someone from the sanatorium."

"Are you looking for a woman in the case?"

He grinned. "No, I don't think he was anything like that. Up here everyone knows you're having an affair the minute you look at an ankle."

"Anyhow," he said, "I don't think his visitor stuck that knife between Vail's ribs. He wasn't."

Nine Cars, One Walker

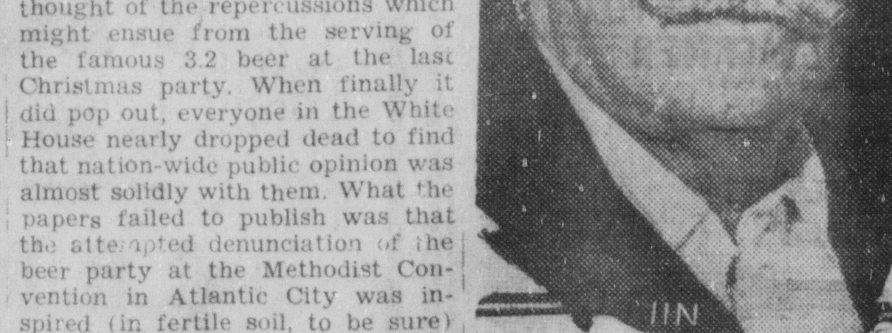

While members of the Cabinet sit with the President in the Blue Room of the White House, their cars stand in a long line in the driveway. Two Lincolns, one Cadillac, three Packards, one Pierce Arrow, two Buicks, nine cars for ten Cabinet officers. The Secretary of State walks from his office across the street. . . . Diplomatic social functions have lost caste since repeal made good liquor available everywhere. . . . Anna Dall tends to "Eleanor Blue" even in dust cloths. The rag she carries in the pocket of her blue sedan is that famous color. Frugal soul, she is conserving the upholstery on the car via the seat-cover method. The car's window glass is spotted with fingerprints of small children, Sistine and Buzze.

Beer

For eight months the White House has been trembling at the thought of the repercussions which might ensue from the serving of the famous 32 beer at the last Christmas party. When finally it did pop out, everyone in the White House nearly dropped dead to find that nation-wide public opinion was almost solidly with them. What the papers failed to publish was that the attempted denunciation of the beer party at the Methodist Convention in Atlantic City was inspired (in fertile soil, to be sure) by several sources very close to the Republican political throne. . . . Despite General Billy Mitchell's demand for more airships, none is on the horizon. Navy Secretary Swanson is convinced they're of great military value, and that their cost should be spent on airplanes. . . . The Federal Aviation Commission, studying the Army corps which make a report that will turn the Army upside down. Despite efforts to keep the facts quiet, the Commission has reached an accurate understanding of the iron heel under which the air corps has been held by the General staff for years back. It also is wise to the fact that the widely-touted "G. H. Q." air force plan, just announced by Secretary Dern, in reality is an attempt to tighten the strangle hold which the General Staff hold on the winged branch.

Colitis Is Not A Nervous Disorder

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

United States senator from New York

New York City

FOR MANY years there has been confusion over a rather common disease known to the doctor as "mucous colitis." It used to be regarded as a nervous disorder and incurable. Fortunately, medical science has progressed. While many of its victims are nervous persons, yet the disease is no longer treated as a nervous disorder or looked upon as incurable.

Many persons continue to confuse the disease with other afflictions of the intestine with similar symptoms. Mucous colitis, as its name indicates, is a catarrhal inflammation of the colon or large intestine. It usually follows chronic constipation. This is believed by many physicians to be the underlying cause. Some patients have persistent diarrhea. As a rule, it is the latter symptom that drives the patient to the doctor.

Diet Is Beneficial

The sufferer of mucous colitis often complains of severe, persistent and colicky abdominal pain. This pain is not relieved by ordinary remedies and the sufferer soon becomes weakened, extremely nervous, irritable and restless.

Once the diagnosis has been made, relief can be offered by special diet and treatment. It is wise to avoid laxatives and mineral waters, fried and greasy foods, salt, peppers, spices and condiments. The diet should be simple, nutritious and easily digested.

Since each case presents its own problem, it is advisable to follow strictly the special diet prescribed by your doctor. For example, milk is harmful to certain sufferers from colitis but may be taken by others. In many cases, eggs should not be eaten.

In the treatment of colitis, it is essential to keep the colon emptied and clean. This should not be accomplished by cathartics or other drastic drugs. Instead, use every day hot or very warm irrigation. This treatment is best when done just before retiring.

Watch the General Health

In severe cases, irrigation of the bowel with oil has been found useful in lessening irritation. The oil is retained for at least ten hours. During the period of treatment, the patient should abstain from food and every effort made to build up the general health.

If after continued treatment no change or permanent relief is obtained, it is possible that the colitis is due to a more serious cause than simple catarrh of the intestine. In that event examination by means of a special instrument may be indicated. By its use the interior of the intestine and the condition of the lining of the walls can be visualized. In this way, deformities can be detected and the form of treatment will be suggested.

Answers to Health Queries

Y. M. Q.—How can I gain weight? 2: What should a boy 18 years old, 5 feet 8 inches tall weigh?

A.—Eat plenty of good nourishing food and get plenty of sleep. Send addressed, stamped envelope for further particulars and repeat your question. 2: He should weigh about 140 pounds. This is about the average weight for one of this age and height, as determined by examination of a large number of persons. A few pounds above or below the average is a matter of little or no significance.

MOVIES

AT THE GRAND

Low Ayres has the enviable task of making love to Alice Faye in "She Learned About Sailors," the Fox comedy-romance coming to the Grand Theatre on Sunday. Lew is the champion heart-breaker of the U. S. Navy and Alice is a night club entertainer in the picture. This gives Alice a splendid opportunity to sing "Here's the Key to My Heart" in a manner that is reminiscent of her "Nasty Man" number in George White's "Scandals."

AT THE CLIFTONA

A galaxy of gorgeous blondes, captured in the jungles of Hollywood, grace the RKO-Radio musical extravaganza, "Down to Their Last Yacht," announced as the forthcoming attraction at the Cliftona Theatre. Its setting is a tropical island in the South Seas with an unconventional and exuberant population of dancing girls and little beach boys. Mary Boland, Polly Moran, Ned Sparks, Sidney Fox and Sidney Blackmer are in the cast.

Sixty-four of Hollywood's most beautiful show girls were painted brown from head to foot in four minutes, for their makeup as natives of a tropical island.

DOGGY MUSICIAN

SEATTLE, Wash.—Mickey has no pedigree, but just the same he's an individualistic sort of mutt. He has been taught by his mistress, Mrs. D. C. Reed, to turn out a sort of doggy harmony by performing on the piano, drums, mandolin, zither or even a one-stringed Chinese affair.

SHERIFF'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

Hedges C. Hill, Plaintiff.

Russell S. Hill et al. Defendant.

Court of Common Pleas.

Pickaway County, Ohio.

Case No. 17,116

In pursuance of an Order for re-valuation and sale in Partition from said Court to me directed in the above entitled action, I will expose to sale, at public auction, at the door of the Court House in Circleville, Pickaway County, Ohio, on Monday the 8th day of October 1934 at 2:30 o'clock, P. M.

FIRST TRACT: The following described real estate situated in the Township of Darby, County of Pickaway and State of Ohio, and being bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a stone in the center of the Darbyville and London pike, N. W. corner to the lot of Mary J. Lawrence and in the line of John Limebaugh; thence with his line and in the center of said pike N. 44 deg. 20 min. W. 10 feet to a point in said road; thence S. 45 deg. 20 min. W. 190 feet to a point; thence S. 44 deg. 20 min. E. 10 feet to a point in the line between Isabel Hume and the said Mary J. Lawrence; thence with their line N. 45 deg. 20 min. E. 130 feet to the beginning and being a strip of land ten feet wide off of the south east side of the tract of 762 of an acre deeded by Charles Poulson and wife to Isabelle Hume and George W. Hume.

SECOND TRACT: Beginning at a stake in the center of the Darbyville and London pike; thence S. 46 deg. E. in the center of said pike 10 feet to a stake; the place of beginning; thence South 44 deg. Principals in Battle Over Vanderbilt Heiress

STOUTSV

Paul No Longer "Stooge" Now Says "Me and Dizzy"

By PAT ROBINSON.
ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—Paul ("Daffy") Dean, younger of the delirious Deans, has gone on strike. Not, I hasten to assure you, against the Cardinals, but against brother Dizzy.

All his life Daffy has been a perfect foil for Dizzy. He's sat in the shadow while Dizzy grabbed the spotlight. He's been silent while Dizzy bragged. He's been the ideal stooge, the incomparable "yes" man for Dizzy.

But no more. There's a new Daffy now. A Daffy who demands his place in the baseball sun. The new Daffy came to light just after he had not only matched but bettered Dizzy's performance against the Tigers.

THE WORM TURNS

The metamorphosis took place in the clubhouse. As Daffy entered, Dizzy was saying "Didn't I tell you how this series would be—me and Paul, that's all."

And right there was where Daffy threw off his master's yoke and spoke his little piece to the amusement of the Cards and the amazement of brother Dizzy.

"Where do you get that 'me and Paul' stuff?" demanded Daffy. "How about me saying 'me and Dizzy' for a change? I guess I ain't so poor my own self."

"Well, I'll be darned," said Daffy. "But that's the way to talk, kid. Now we'll both get plenty publicity." He turned to the gang and added: "Say, we're smart, us Deans, ain't we?"

Delancy, the 19-year-old catcher, who handles both the Deans, was off to one side explaining quietly how Daffy did it: "He had more speed than Dizzy out there today. We used nothing but fast balls to get rid of every hitter. Every hit he made was made off a fast ball. We just wasted the curve. He was a little wild but that was because he was putting too much on the ball. He was bearing down too hard."

CARLETON TODAY

"Nervous in a jam? That bird? Say, those Deans are too nutty to have any nerves. Now in this next game I figure Tex Carleton will be just as tough for them because he's a side wheeler and his delivery will be a lot different to look at after seeing Daffy."

TIGERS SHOW NO POWER IN 34-0 DEFEAT

Marysville Presents Smooth Attack With Graham Proving Outstanding.

Circleville high school gridders, Friday, continued their losing streak which has now reached an undetermined number of set-backs when Marysville's team, not rated nearly so high as some other teams in the Central Buckeye league, administered a 34 to 0 dose of calumny. The game was played at Marysville.

The Marysville 30 yard line where Speakman carried an intercepted pass was the nearest the Tigers ever got the ball to a scoring position.

The fray was the third in a row this year in which the locals have even failed to treat the enemy goaline.

It was just a case of Marysville playing good football and Circleville doing just the opposite. Jerry Kingsmore's boys turned in a varied attack with a good passer, Graham, keeping the Tiger secondary in fear of a well-placed heave throughout. Two of the Union countians' touchdowns came on long passes perfectly executed. The other came as the result of drives down the field.

The score by quarters was: Marysville: 6 7 14 7—34.

The Union-co team scored 14 first downs against two for the Tigers making three first downs for the locals in the last two games.

The lineups: Marysville—34 Circleville—0

Graham L.H. Grant
Hurd R.H. Henry
Smith F. Speakman

Scoring: touchdowns, Graham, 2; Hurd, 2; Simpson.

Points after touchdown: Graham, 4.

Officials: White, Ohio university, referee; Red Kingsmore, Marysville, umpire; Cress, Circleville, head linesman.

PAUL IN FORM

"Fireball Paul," younger of the Dean brothers, carved himself a niche in the world series hall of fame Friday afternoon when he showed a crowd in Sportman's park just how baseball should be pitched in the clutches—Several times a Detroit hit might have at least tied up the ball game but Paul shot that apple down through there every time he needed to do so ***

MacArthur to Finish Army Job?

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who was appointed chief of staff by former President Hoover in 1930, the youngest chief in the army's history, appears certain of reappointment to succeed himself at the expiration of his four-year term. Secretary of War George H. Dern is said to be anxious for him to continue because he wants the general to finish his task of motorizing the nation's military forces. The officer assertedly has been influential in securing for the army a slice of a $115,000,000 appropriation for ordnance and ammunition. obtained from the PWA civil funds chest.

tribution to Circleville, carried off plenty of laurels at Dayton Friday evening when he led the Ohio Wesleyan team to a 21-0 victory. White sprinted 40 yards for one touchdown and placed the ball in scoring position for both others—Brother Dean entered the game for a short time at the end of the first half—He is not in the best physical condition ***

TORONTO VICTORIOUS

Both teams scored four runs in the first inning Friday night but Toronto added two more to defeat the Red Birds, 6-4, making the little world series standing now three and two with Columbus leading—Ed Greer was ineffective and so was Gene Schott at the start but Hilcher bested Klinger in a duel part of the way  Riggs clubbed a home run for the Birds ***

A NEW RECORD?

It's beyond our recollection when a high school football team representing Circleville high school was held to three first downs in two grid games—Anyway that's what the present edition has done, one at Lancaster and two at Marysville—Incidentally but few of this year's team members are under classmen which makes things look dreary for next year ***

Charles F. Weaver, son of the owner, passed away. He had served for 25 years prior to that as a salesman for the Weaver firm and was one of the best known men in central Ohio, his acquaintance being broadened through his daily travels into scores of towns and villages. He was one of Circleville's most respected men.

Mr. Fullen was active in civic affairs and was chairman of the Pickaway-co Re-employment service committee. He was active in the Sunday school of the Methodist church and also in its Men's club.

HAS TWO CHILDREN

He was married May 6, 1894, to Matilda McKinley, who survives him with two children, Ruth, wife of Clarence Hott, of Columbus, and Charles, of Northridge-nd. There are also three grandchildren, Ann Hott and David and Dickie Fullen. Mr. and Mrs. Hott were in Binghamton, N. Y., when Mr. Fullen met his death but fortunately they were reached by telephone and are now on their way here. Binghamton is more than 800 miles from Circleville.

A sister, Mrs. Jennie Boganrife, of Tacoma, Washington, also survives.

The funeral will be Monday at 3 p. m. in the Methodist church with Rev. Herman Sayre assisted by Rev. T. C. Harper officiating. Interment will be in Forest cemetery by Mr. Rinehart, a close personal friend of the deceased.

Questions and Answers

What is the difference between jam and preserves?

These two methods of preserving fruits may best be distinguished by describing each one. Jams are made from both the pulp and juice of the fruit, and the fruit does not retain its original shape. The most familiar jams are made from berries. Preserves, when the word is correctly used, should be made of whole fruit that retains its original form. The fruit should be covered with a thick syrup.

What is meant by whole meal cooking?

The term whole meal cooking is usually used in reference to oven meals. If the entire meal can be prepared in the oven, it saves top burner fuel, particularly when one dish is to be baked. There may be the meat serving, the vegetable, a fruit dessert or pudding, prepared in the oven at the same time, with biscuits baked the last few minutes for a hot bread serving. The number of hours you want your food to cook should be estimated, and from that the degrees of heat needed is determined. For example, a meal that you want in the oven for 4 to 6 hours should have the lowest temperature (250 degrees). A dinner that you want to serve in 1 hour needs to be placed in an oven set at 400 or 425 degrees.

What kinds of fish are suitable for broiling?

Most kinds of fish are good when broiled, but some fish are better broiled than prepared any other way. Haddock fillets, herring, halibut, mackerel, cod, pickarel and whitefish prove that large fish, as well as small ones, may be broiled successfully.

Do you have a recipe for spiced pears?

Pears may be spiced with the same syrup used for pickling peaches. Ginger pears, one type of spiced pear, is flavored strongly with ginger. These recipes are given as follows:

Syrup for Pickling Peaches or Pears

4 qts. fruit
2 lbs. white or brown sugar
2 C. vinegar
1 1/2 oz. stick cinnamon
1/4 oz. whole cloves

Remove skins from peaches or pears. Boil the sugar, vinegar and cinnamon for 20 minutes. Place a few peaches or pears at a time into the syrup and cook them until they are tender. Pack them into clean jars, placing a few cloves in each jar. Adjust the rubbers, and fill each jar to overflowing with the hot syrup. Cover and seal the jars immediately.

Ginger Pears

5 pounds hard pears
3 C. water
5 pounds sugar
1/4 C. preserved ginger
3 lemons, juice and grated rind

Remove the skins and cores from the pears and cut the fruit in lengthwise slices. Add the water and cook until the pears are tender. Add the sugar, juice and grated rind of the lemons, the ginger cut in small pieces, and simmer the mixture until it is thick. Pour into clean, hot jars and seal.

CLUB AMENDS CONSTITUTION

Girl Reserves To Initiate Ten New Members On October 18.

The constitution of the Senior Girl Reserves was amended at their first meeting, Thursday, September 27.

The constitution now reads, "The number of members to be taken in, and the number of initiations to be held shall be decided at the first meeting of each year."

It was decided to hold one initiation a year and to admit ten members. The initiation will be Thursday evening, October 18. Formerly, there were two initiations held each year; the former in October and the latter in February.

The club has accepted the invitation extended by the H-Y to hold joint social meetings again this year.

Chairmen of the program, service, and pep committees are Anne Thacher, Alice Griner, and Margie Mader, respectively.

The book "Eighteen" will be discussed on the programs. This book was used in the club last year and proved so successful that it will be continued. The book was written by C. A. Miller.

The question of again dividing the club into hobby groups was discussed. Last year there were two: the Athletic and Nature group and the Music and Dramatics. A third group may be added this year.

Faculty advisers are Miss Watson and Miss Rains.

ORCHESTRA TO PLAY FOR TEACHERS MEET

Earlier this year than usual will be the initial public appearance of the High School orchestra when it will play at the all-county teachers' gathering on Saturday, October 13.

The program will be given during the luncheon hour in the school gym. The selections of the orchestra will precede an after-dinner address by the Rev. Mr. Tippett of the Bexley M. E. church.

Mr. Zaenglein is planning several practices as soon as a let-up of the Pumpkin Show activities gives an opportunity.

TAKE SENIOR PHOTOS BEFORE CHRISTMAS

Bids for the individual senior photographs will be acted upon in time this year so that the class of '35" will receive their pictures near Christmas.

Last year the pictures were taken in March; but this year they will be made soon enough to be used as Christmas gifts.

Only the local photographers will be eligible to submit bids.

Commercial Department Is Running Full Speed

The commercial department is running at full speed. The beginners' classes are studying the fundamentals of bookkeeping and typewriting, while the advanced classes have taken up the work where they ended last year.

At present the latter are studying controlling accounts.

Grad on Office Staff

Ruth Newland, a graduate of the class of '34, has been assisting with the work in Mr. Gephart's office.

In addition to her office work, Ruth has been working in Ebert's Soda Grill part of the time.

Last year Ruth was on the Red and Black staff and associate editor of the "Circle."

To Use Private Cars

Because of the lack of funds to charter buses, private cars will be used this season for the high school football team.

The new uniforms caused a drain on the treasury this year.

Choose New Managers

Several new managers for the football team have been selected. Horace Gilmore is Senior manager and is assisted by James Lyle, also a senior.

Junior managers are Cecil Andrews and Hildeburn Jones.

Day Sends Day at Castalia, Ohio

"One of the most beautiful things I have ever seen," said Mr. Day, "was the 'Blue Hole' at Castalia, Ohio, which I visited Saturday."

The water of this well-known Ohio scenic attraction is very blue and one may see in it what appears to be snow-covered mountains and forests covered with snow. The Blue Hole is approximately 50 or 60 feet deep and no fish can live in this water because it is deoxygenized.

Castalia is located in Erie county and is within an easy half day's drive from Circleville.

THANK YOU!

Without the splendid cooperation on the part of the parents and the business and industrial firms of the city the Pumpkin show parade could not have been a success.

The schools of the city wish to thank all those who helped so generously.

QUESTION:

What suggestions do you believe would help the appearance of the north side of the high school building?

ANSWERS:

Dick Plum—junior.
The best thing in my opinion would be to build a bicycle rack on the north side of the school building.

A good present by a graduating class or classes then would be to improve the appearance of the north hill by landscaping.

Doris Lindsey—senior.

I suggest that shrubbery or fir trees be planted where bare ground is now.

Mark S. Maxey—senior.

I think that conditions could be greatly improved by taking out dilapidated fence between the coal bin and the third post along the alley. This could be replaced by a bicycle rack built by the manual training department.

At the western end of the rack steps could be built up the bank. The gravel-covered slopes could either be regraded or sodded, leaving little trace of its present drabness.

Howard Richardson—senior.

First level off the side of the north bank. Then sod it and plant shrubs along the side of the building.

Hedge should then be planted along the alley.

PLAN RECOVERY IN NATION'S SCHOOLS

"We are now entering upon what may easily be the most crucial year in the history of the American schools. Never before has there been such need for united action, vigorous leadership, and sustained public support."

Thus writes Henry Lester Smith, president of the National Education association, in setting aside the week of October 28 to November 3 as National Educational week.

The purpose of the project is a nationwide movement to bring about recovery in the schools.

Mr. Smith continues, "American Education week offers an unusual opportunity to interpret education to the people and to enlist their cooperation in the improvement of the schools."

Circleville school heads have sent for plans to cover the observance. These include materials for distributions to parents, sample editorials, cartoons, and suggestions for assembly programs.

Boys Accredited With Building Parade Floats

In order to make anything a success there must be a group of people who work behind the scenes and do not receive much public praise. Such was true in the case of the high school floats which were prepared for the school parade.

Working hard and diligently the past week in making the floats were Kenneth Davis, Willard Friley, Arthur Goodman, Harry Kichey, Robert Styers, Robert Teal, Oscar Trochler, Paul Weaver, and Kenneth Wilson.

To Kermit Wilson also goes much credit for supervising the making and painting of all the signs used in the school parade.

The construction of the floats was under the supervision of Mr. Zaenglein.

BUCKEYE LEAGUE CAMPAIGN OPENED

Six Schools Are In Association—Who Will Win Is Question.

On the Marysville field yesterday the Circleville high gridders opened another Central Buckeye league football campaign by taking on the team of that city.

In the past three years the "Tigers" have taken back seats in the Central Buckeye league running. In 1931 C. H. S. finished fifth in the league of six schools, dropped four and winning one tilt.

In 1932 the Circleville boys jumped to fourth position with three defeats and two victories.

Last year proved disastrous to the "Red and Black" when they lost four, tied one, and failed to win a single league affair.

The Central Buckeye league was formed in the spring of 1929 and competition began in the fall of 1930.

Six schools make up the league: Bexley, Delaware, Grandview, Circleville, Marysville, and Westerville.

In order to be eligible for membership in this league, teams must compete one year with other teams in the league.

ERECT CLASSES' MEMORIAL SOON

Two beautiful lights which have been presented as class gifts to C. H. S. by the classes of 32-33 are to be placed at the lower front steps of the high school building.

The memorials will be eleven feet high and will be placed on standards.

This is the only example in recent years of two classes co-operating in a joint project of this kind.

Band to Play For History Day Event

According to custom, the High School band will give a concert at the History day celebration which will be held at Logan Elm, tomorrow.

This has been an annual engagement of the band for the past four or five years.

Transportation for Band Is Requested

It is requested that friends of the High School band who are going to Logan Elm tomorrow stop at the High School building and take one or more band members with them.

The band is scheduled to arrive at Logan Elm at 2 o'clock.

Much appreciation is due to the patrons of our school who have responded to similar announcements.

Two New Pupils Enter

Ethel Stonerock, a senior, who has been recovering from an appendicitis operation will return to school Monday.

Jeanne Zurmehly, a freshman, has enrolled in C. H. S. She attended Wayne-two school at Westfall last year and prior to her registration here she went to Centralia high school at Centralia, Ohio.

BIOLOGY CLASSES ARRANGE DISPLAY

Attracting much interest in the high school are the leaves which have been mounted and placed on display in room 24. The display is a gorgeous one, and worthy of everyone's attention.

Among some of the most interesting collections are those made by Emily Gunning, Mary Newmyer, Mary Jane Schlear, and Laddie Goeller.

These collections, some of which have been very skillfully done, have been made by the Freshman and Senior biology classes under the supervision of Miss Hitler.

Cresses Spend Weekend In Michigan Fishing

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Cress of this city and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cress of Troy, Ohio, drove to Michigan last Friday evening to spend the weekend.

The party fished at Reynolds lake near Laurence, Michigan. Mr. Cress reports the fishing quite good although the weather was very cold. Blue gills and bass were the main catch of the anglers.

How Cochrane Received Spiking in Home Slide

Rivalry between the St. Louis Cardinals and the Detroit Tigers has been intensified as a result of the spiking of Manager Mickey Cochrane, Tiger catcher, by Joe Medwick, Card outfielder, when the latter was thrown out as he slid into home plate in the third inning of the second game at Detroit. This photo shows the play, which some sport observers hint is a suggestion of bad blood between the two teams. Medwick's left leg can be seen striking Cochrane, as the umpire calls him out.

THREE CENTS

Did You Know
By Pat J. Krwin

THAT 31 years ago, when Circleville's first Pumpkin Show was getting underway, Pickaway-co was known the country over for the fine race horses it was producing.

One of the chief attractions at the first show was the exhibition of two of the native prize horses, the property of the late T. C. Millar and Benjamin F. Yates, of this city.

"Brownie Wilton," a fine stallion and product of Mr. Millar's South Bloomfield farm, made an unprecedented record in three straight seasons beginning in 1902, culminating in his feat at the Lexington, Ky., tracks in the fall of 1904 when he made a mark of 2:10 in the third heat of the principal race.

The champion sire in Pickaway-co, "Sir Liss," was owned by Mr. Yates and had 49 colts, all of which trotted a mile in 2:25 or better, some much lower.

He said: "Brownie" was bred and raised in this county and it was here that he received his earliest training. He first saw the light of day in 1897 on the Millar stock farm at South Bloomfield, son of the great sire, Wilton, the property of W. H. Albaugh and H. S. Lewis."

Noted throughout the length and breadth of the land for the speed he produced, there was not a single trotting horse in the country which had a better record than "Brownie." During the season of 1902 Millar's horse was in 13 races, in six of which he took first money, captured three seconds and the same number of thirds and only one failure.

IN 1902 he was in nine races and took five firsts, one second and three thirds, losing out in only one heat. His campaign in 1904, climaxed with the brilliant showing at the Lexington tracks, started in Columbus on Sept. 20, during the Grand Circuit meet. "Brownie" won the third heat of the race in 2:12 1/2 and came back in the fourth to beat Main Land, a real star.

"Brownie's" next start was at the Oakley races in Cincinnati, winning three events. Then in his next meet at the Lexington tracks he made the record of the season. His premiums in the four races amounted to more than $2,000, no small sum in those days.

Mr. Yates' horse, "Sir Liss," one of the greatest of its kind in the United States was the sire of five horses valued at more than $15,000. In this list was included India Prince, which took second at the Madison Square Garden exhibition in New York City in the fall of 1904. "Sir Liss" and daughter, "Midnight" were also exhibited at the first Pumpkin Show.

Many other fine horses were raised in this county, including those of the late Cary Short and Joseph Smith of Sunny-side. Space is not available to give a full account of their records.

CLOUDY SKIES GREET CROWD ON FINAL DAY

WINNERS TO PARADE

Drummers Come in For Share of Action

Overcast skies threatened to mar the closing activities of Circleville's thirty-first Pumpkin Show but the threat of rain did not keep hundreds of persons from crowding into the city early today.

Two parades were on the schedule in the afternoon and evening to conclude the biggest show in recent years. The ever popular pet parade was the afternoon feature while the Old Vehicle parade was the evening's headliner with a prize winner's parade to follow that.

A large number of entries was reported in both events.

MANY HERE FRIDAY
Friday's crowd was mammoth with perfect weather again prevailing. Both the parades were splendid with bands performing at their best. An added attraction was seen in the evening parade when the Bremen American Legion drum corps took part in the parades. The local drum corps headed by the Hunn boy from Columbus in "another" new outfit also came in for its share of comment. The two drum corps joined on W. Main-st for a little entertainment and "busted" some fine drum and bugle music for a large crowd.

All the rides were enjoying much patronage.

The free acts continue to draw crowds and all have been termed the best in years.

Madrid Seething Battlefield With Many More Deaths Reported.

MADRID, Oct. 6.—Madrid, which had been quiet throughout the night and morning in Spain's revolutionary general strike, was turned into a seething battlefield this afternoon as brutal, fatal fighting broke out throughout the city.

Two guards and several strikers were killed and many were wounded as a mob of the rebels attempted to capture a civil guards barracks in the heart of the capital.

One man was killed and two wounded in further clashes between guards and strikers in the Guatrocaminos district, and many were wounded in other parts of the city as employers attempted to hire strikebreakers.

The government hacked the employers. The bitter fighting was expected to spread rapidly.

Let the Great Dizzy Sign It

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—Tex Carleton who will pitch for the Cardinals today, is often mistaken for Dizzy Dean to whom he bears some resemblance. A young lady so mistook Tex after the game yesterday when she asked him to autograph her program.

"Won't you please sign my program, Mr. Dean?" she asked sweetly.

"Say, do I look like that guy?" said Tex gruffly.

"I'll say you don't. Not out on that hill," said the one and only Dizzy who was just behind Tex and overheard the remark. "Here, miss, the great Dizzy will sign that for you." And he did.

MRS. SCHUMM HURT

Mrs. A. D. Schumm, E. Main-st, fell and suffered a fractured wrist Friday afternoon.

W. H. Lee, of Columbus, fell into a cellarway at 202 W. Main-st and had minor injuries Friday night.

Miss Pumpkin Show

Miss Anderson

Miss Anderson, selected over 19 other contestants, is Miss Pumpkin Show and has been riding in each parade as such. A prize of $50 was awarded her by the Pumpkin Show society.

FORTY JOIN IN COMIC PARADE

Anna Dresbach and Clark Child Win First Prizes in Fine Parade.

Forty entries were listed in a splendid comic and characterization parade Friday evening with Misses Minnie Lyle and Peggy Courtright in charge of the contest. The parade was a long one and pleasing to the great crowd.

Its judges were Robert Ferguson, Detroit; Ed Sanderson, Hillsboro, and Mrs. Gilbert Monroe, Portsmouth.

The prizes were awarded as follows:

COMIC

First, Anna Dresbach, dressed as a scare-crow;

Second, Lloyd Duram, walking on stilts;

Third, Mrs. Mary Pickle and Rachel Pickle as a colored couple;

Fourth, Helen Given as a colored woman with a small child.

CHARACTERIZATION

First, Billy Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Clark, Jr., as a boxer in his ring;

Second, Mrs. Blanche Motschman as Mae West;

Third, A. E. Welch, as a pioneer;

Fourth, Carl Dolly, Doris and Betty Riffe as hunters.

TREATED FOR CUTS

Winifred Fraley, 19, of Ashland, Ky., was treated at Berger hospital for lacerations of the face Friday evening after a traffic accident near this city.

$5 STAMPS STOLEN

Five dollars worth of stamps were stolen from the office of George McDowell, superintendent of Pickaway-co schools, Friday noon by thieves who pried open a door then broke locks on two roll-top desks.

HOSPITAL NEWS

Mrs. Carl Leist and baby boy were to be removed home from Berger hospital Saturday.

McCOLLISTER NOT EVEN IN ACCIDENT

A report circulated freely that F. M. McCollister, manager of the Kroger store on W. Main-st, was killed in an automobile wreck Friday night, is untrue. Mr. McCollister is on the job today and is having a "peach of time" convincing friends he is not a ghost. He wasn't even in an accident.

150 BABIES SET RECORD

Mrs. Morris' Event Best Ever; Competition Difficult On Judges.

The baby parade and show, directed by Mrs. Mary G. Morris and Miss Mary Armstrong, set a precedent Friday afternoon with upward of 150 children entered. This figure surpassed any previous baby parade and show by more than 20 children.

The task of judging this parade was a difficult one but it was ably handled by Miss Virginia Lee Orr, Kingston; Mrs. Gilbert Monroe, Portsmouth; Mrs. H. C. Elkins, Oswego, N. Y.; Miss C. H. Morris, Cleveland; Mrs. John W. McCrady, Uhrichsville, and Mrs. Frank Rowe, Athens.

The largest individual in the parade was for babies between one and two years of age where 43 were enrolled.

BOWERS BABY FIRST

First prize in the event for babies under one year went to James Bowers, son of Mrs. and Mrs. Donald Bowers, Washington-twp. Second was Donald Eugene Rhoads, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Rhoads, Logan-st, third was Thomas Wells, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Wells, Water-st, this city, while Jimmy Wallace, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wallace, E. Union-st, was fourth.

Eight colored children under one year were entered with Richard Leon Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Thomas, 212 S. Pickaway-st, taking the major prize. Hazel Joecele Thomas was second, Charles Edward Johnson third, and Joanne Lewis, fourth.

Fatty Lou Monte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Monte, S. Court-st, was first in the division for white babies between one and two years. Second was Marlene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Steele; third was James Walter Greenlee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Greenlee, Town-st, and fourth went to Abner Francis.

HELWAGEN YOUTH WINS AMERICAN LEGION'S MONEY

Kenneth Helwagen, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Helwagen, won the $5 first prize in the American Legion's "perambulator" derby Friday afternoon as a feature of the Pumpkin Show.

Helwagen's vehicle went almost to the Pickaway-st bridge.

Other prizes were won by Carl Bach, $3, and Andrew Turner, $2. There were eight entries and everyone of the boys had a good time.

Ralph Ward was in charge of the affair.

SAMUEL VEAIL DIES

CHILLICOTHE, Oct. 6.—Samuel M. Veail, dean of local bankers and a true friend of man, passed away here Friday. He had been ill several weeks.

Mr. Veail had been president of the First National bank for a number of years.

"American Tragedy" Case Comes to End

WILKES BARRE, Pa., Oct. 6.—Bobby Edwards, 21-year-old small town Don Juan, today was found guilty of first degree murder at 8:19 a. m. by a jury.

The handsome young defendant was charged with slaying Freda McKechnie during a midnight swim in order to marry Margaret Crain of East Aurora, N. Y. Freda was an expectant mother.

The defendant took the verdict which means death in the electric chair without emotion.

The jury received the case at 8:54 p. m. last night.

The courtroom was virtually empty when the death sentence to the young philanderer was brought back by the jurors.

The early hour and a down-pouring rain helped to prevent the crowds from jamming the chamber. The clerk of the court intoned: "Gentlemen of the jury, have you reached a verdict?"

"We have," replied Charles Landis, foreman.

DEATH ORDERED

"We find the defendant Robert Allan Edwards guilty of first degree murder and recommend the death penalty."

Young Edwards, looking well rested from a good night's sleep, took it like ice.

"How do you feel?" one of his counsel asked him sympathetically. "Very well, thank you," the defendant answered.

He said it in the same tone he might have used in passing the time of day.

MULLINS IS JAILED UNDER $2,000 BOND

Jack Mullins, of Kentucky, was bound over to the grand jury under $2,000 bond Friday afternoon by Mayor W. B. Cady after a not guilty plea to cutting with intent to wound Clarence "Liz" Johnson.

Johnson is in Berger hospital with severe knife wounds.

Several other Kentuckians arrested with Mullins were released.

REPUBLICANS RALLY IN NEW LEXINGTON

Several local Republicans are planning to attend the noon luncheon and night mass Republican meeting at New Lexington, Monday.

Music at the sessions will be furnished by the Perry-co women. Speakers will include Renick W. Dunlap, Pickaway-twp. Republican candidate for congressman from the eleventh district; Louise Adkins, of Newark, chairman of the Women's state campaign committee, and Katherine Kennedy Brown, Dayton, national committee woman from Ohio.

Planning to attend are Mrs. Helen Black Anderson, Mrs. B. T. Hedges, Miss Mary Porter and Miss Anna Florence.

Any other local persons desiring to attend and wish transportation are to notify Mrs. Anderson.

Talks Here Tuesday

Vic Donahey

MANY TO HEAR PARTY CHIEFS

Donahey Leads Speakers Here Tuesday Evening; Adkins In Charge.

Democrats of Pickaway and adjoining counties will rally Tuesday evening at Memorial Hall where A. Vic Donahey, candidate for the United States senate; C. C. Dill, United States senator from Washington state, and Mell G. Underwood, candidate for congress from the 11th Ohio district, will be the principal speakers.

A number of other candidates will be introduced but will not speak. All the county candidates are to be on the platform for introductions.

George G. Adkins, chairman of the Pickaway-co Democratic executive committee, will preside during the evening.

The appearance of Donahey alone is sufficient to guarantee a capacity crowd. Always one of the most popular of campaigners, Donahey has received many votes in Pickaway-co. His vote for the Democratic nomination made the total for that office higher than for the governorship. Donahey is certain to be interesting.

According to information received by Mr. Adkins, Senator Dill is a remarkable speaker. He is a leader in the senate and should provide much color to the meeting.

While Underwood's talk is expected to be brief to allow Donahey and Dill plenty of time, many are looking forward to hearing the congressman.

Peter Williams and Byron Bivens Sentenced For Liquor Violations.

Common Pleas Judge J. W. Adkins today had served warning to violators of Ohio's liquor control act that very little leniency may be expected if they appear in his court.

Peter Williams, 55, of Derby, arrested a week ago by members of the sheriff's department and state liquor agents on two charges of illegal possession and possessing intoxicating liquor for sale, was fined $500 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in the county jail following his hearing before Judge Adkins Saturday.

Williams was fined $100 and costs on the former charge and received the 30 day jail sentence and $100 fine on the latter complaint.

Represented by George G. Adkins, Williams was committed to the county jail.

Byron Bivens, W. Main-st, who was nabbed the same night of Williams' arrest, was fined $100 and costs on a charge of possessing intoxicating liquor for sale. Last week he pleaded guilty to a charge of illegal possession and was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to jail for 30 days.

FALLS INTO ELEVATOR PIT AT WEAVER STORE

Prominent Civic Leader, General Manager of Wholesale House, Discovered by Wife Who Went to Search for Him; How Accident Happened Puzzles Authorities; Funeral Monday

Homer G. Fullen, 59, general manager of the W. J. Weaver and Son wholesale store, was killed Friday evening by a fall from the first floor of the store through the elevator shaft to the concrete floor of the basement eight feet below. He died of a crushed skull.

Mr. Fullen was found dying by Mrs. Fullen who had gone into the store in search of him when he failed to respond to her call. Dr. C. E. Bowers, who is also county coroner, was summoned by Mrs. Fullen and he in turn called the M. S. Rinehart ambulance. Mr. Fullen gasped his last breaths after the ambulance had taken him as far as High-st while enroute to Berger hospital.

Mr. Fullen's death which shocked the entire city is believed accidental although Coroner Bowers is expected to issue a formal statement. He, with Sheriff Charles Radcliff, went over the Weaver store investigating the tragedy Friday night.

WATCHING PARADE

Mr. and Mrs. Fullen were watching the comic and characterization parade, it is reported, when Mr. Fullen told his wife he didn't feel well, and walked into the store. In a short while Mrs. Fullen went into the store and called her husband. When he failed to respond she turned on more lights and started in search of him. It was she who discovered him lying in a pool of blood at the bottom of the elevator shaft.

Mrs. Fullen displayed masterful self-control to summon their physician. Dr. Bowers came at once and called the ambulance. Mr. Fullen's son, Charles, employee of the Circleville Lumber Co., was summoned and helped remove his father from the elevator shaft. It was only a minute after the ambulance started to the hospital that Dr. Bowers informed Lawrence Stonerock, the driver, that Mr. Fullen had succumbed. They then drove to the Rinehart funeral home.

News of the tragedy circulated like wild fire and scores of friends of the Fullen family telephoned the Rinehart home and homes of other friends to learn if the report was true.

DEATH MYSTERY

How Mr. Fullen came to his death in the elevator shaft is a mystery. Neither Dr. Bowers nor Sheriff Radcliff were able to explain how he might have fallen into the pit, although it is certain that is what happened.

The elevator used at the store to haul goods was at that time on the second floor where Mr. and Mrs. William Robinson, the former an employee of the wholesale house, were watching the procession. When the elevator goes up a rail on the first floor automatically goes into place to prevent anyone from stepping into the shaft. There is no reason to believe the rail was not in place when Mr. Fullen entered the store, because persons who entered after the tragedy was discovered said the rail was then in place. It is believed it was in place when Mrs. Fullen discovered her husband.

One theory advanced is that Mr. Fullen had reached up to pull the rope which controls the elevator, possibly to lower it so he could go to the second floor. It was reported he might have fallen over the rail although it is comparatively high probably reaching the chest of a man of normal height. Another theory is that Mr. Fullen might have tried to reach the rope by first passing the rail up then reaching under it to grasp the rope, and in that way losing his balance and falling into the pit. This does not seem logical although it is possible.

FOUL PLAY THEORY

The theory of foul play also advanced, some saying that it was possible the store manager found someone in the store who struck him then pushed him over the rail.

It is probable no one will ever know how Mr. Fullen actually did come to his death.

He had been in good health although suffering from a slight cold.

Mrs. Fullen was overjoyed with grief Friday night but was reported to have rested fairly well during the night.

Mr. Fullen had been general manager of the Weaver store since 1929, shortly after

The Church Invites You

THE CHURCH INVITES YOU

Theodore Roosevelt said: "It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbled, or where the door of deeds could have been done better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena; whose face is marked by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs and comes short again and again; who knows the great enthusiasms, the great devotions and spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievements; and at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly; so that his place shall never be with those weak and timid souls who know neither victory nor defeat."

Why not join the great body of churchmen and women who are striving together to make the world a more Christ-like place and ACCEPT THE INVITATION TO COME TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY?

WHAT IS THE MISSION OF THE CHURCH IN A CHANGING WORLD?
Dr. John McDowell has said the church's mission is at least fivefold: (1) To submit to the authority of Christ in all matters of belief and teaching; (2) To manifest the spirit of Christ in all its contact and services; (3) To proclaim the message of Christ in terms of life and love to all men, regardless of creed, color or condition; (4) To apply the test of Christ to all relationships and responsibilities; (5) To carry on the work of Christ, namely, making men like Christ, earth like heaven and the kingdoms of this world the Kingdom of Christ.

The Church cannot claim the authority of Christ for any particular form of political, economic, government, social policy or system. It must insist, however, under all forms of government, policies and systems upon the fundamental demands of Christ for justice, purity and kindness.

FELLOWSHIP WITH CHRIST

LESSON TEXT—John 15:1-16. GOLDEN TEXT—Abide in me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine; no more can ye, except ye abide in me. John 15:4.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus and His Friends.

JUNIOR TOPIC—How to Be Jesus' Friend.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How May We Be Friends of Christ?

Under the beautiful allegory of the vine and the branches, Jesus set forth the spiritual oneness of himself and his disciples. He showed that though he was going away, they would be in vital touch with their unseen Lord, and that through their life was to be manifested to the world and his purposes accomplished.

1. The Relationship of the Disciples to Jesus and the Father (vv. 1-3).

1. Jesus is the source of the disciples' life (v. 1). He is the true vine. Through the incarnation Jesus identified himself with humanity, and by virtue of his atoning death and resurrection it is possible for the believer to be a partaker of his life, so that between the disciple and his Lord there is a community of life. As the vine pours its life into the branch, so Christ pours his life into the believer. The life of the believer is a derived life. Whatever is worth while in him is derived from Christ.

2. The discipline of the disciple is in the hands of the Father (v. 1). The "Father is the husbandman." Just as the culture of the vine is in the hands of a husbandman, so the discipline of the believer's life is in the hands of the Father. He knows exactly how deep to cut with his pruning knife, and can be absolutely trusted to cut no deeper than necessary, for he is our affectionate Father. In this disciplinary process he

a. Removes the unfruitful branch (v. 2). He does not take the trouble to prune the fruitless branch—the nominal church member; the more professor he removes.

b. Purges the fruitful branch that may produce more fruit (v. 2). He restrains our natural tendencies and desires in order that the virtues of the Lord, the fruit of the Spirit, may shine forth.

3. The instrument by which the discipline is accomplished is Jesus' words (v. 3). If the believer's life is to be fruitful in character and service, the pruning knife, Christ's words, must be intelligently and regularly applied.

11. The Conditions of Fruit-bearing (v. 4-7).

The supreme and grand object in pruning the vine is fruit. God's whole design in producing the vine and making men branches thereof was to obtain fruit, more fruit, much fruit.

1. Abiding in Christ (vv. 4, 6). As the branches draw sap and life from the vine, so believers must abide in Christ, from whom they derive their purity, strength, and wisdom. Indeed, it is a mutual abiding—the disciple in Christ, and Christ in the disciple. It is really Christ's life expressing itself through the believer.

2. Christ's words abiding in us (v. 7). So mighty is the power of the one who abides in Christ and in whom the words of Christ abide, that Heaven can withhold no gift from him. In fact, the one who is united in Christ by faith and prayerfully meditates upon his words will be so led by the Spirit to pray as to have success without limit (Col. 3:16).

III. The Blessed Issue of a Fruitful life (vv. 8-16).

1. The glorification of the Father (v. 8). The Father will be glorified through much fruit-bearing (Matt. 5:16).

2. Credentials of discipleship (v. 8). The way to prove that one is a child of God is to manifest the characteristics of God in his acts and service.

3. Abiding in Christ's love and keeping his commandments (vv. 9, 10). The way to abide in Christ's love is to keep his commands. The one who neglects the words of Christ is destitute of divine love.

4. Fullness of joy (v. 11). The way to have fullness of joy is to have Christ's joy in us.

5. Loving one another (vv. 12, 13). The one who abides in Christ and has the life of Christ flowing into him will love his fellow-man, especially his brethren in Christ.

6. Friends of Christ (vv. 14, 15). Christ's friends do whatever he commands. Being thus obedient to him, we are taken into his confidence and have made known unto us the heavenly Father's will.

7. Perpetual fruit-bearing in love with power in prayer (v. 16). This enriched life becomes possible through the sovereign choice and ordination of Christ.

PREACHER'S CHILDREN

Today when there is so much criticism of preachers' children and their lack of achievement it might be well to note examples of preachers' children who have achieved success and made names for themselves: Grenfell, who operated among the people of Labrador; Schweitzer, who operated in the jungle; Sir Francis Drake who sailed ships; Nelson, the great commander; Cecil Rhodes, who built empires; the Wright brothers who were pioneer flyers; Cyrus Field, who laid a cable under the sea; Houdini, the magician; Samuel Morse, who invented the telegraph; Sir Robert Baden Powell who founded the Boy Scouts; Paul Robeson the singer; John Wesley Powell, who explored the Grand Canyon; Ten of the 56 signers of the Declaration of Independence; Four Presidents of the United States; Three Vice-Presidents and seven First Ladies.

Lesson Prayer: "Help us to enter into that divine fellowship with God that will make possible the inflowing of his love; give us such an obedient will that will cause the outflow of God's love in loving service."

Our Bands' Scouts

It is with extreme pride that Circleville Pumpkin Show enthusiasts watch its two school bands march. We doubt if there is a city in Ohio the size of Circleville which can boast of two musical organizations as competent and able as those representing our schools.

Both bands have performed each day of the Pumpkin Show and the impression they have made has been lasting. Many words of praise have come from the lips of out-town visitors as the two units go about their duties as seasons veterans.

Both bands were made possible by financial support from the Pumpkin Show society and they have amply repaid this organization for the confidence placed in them.

Boy and Girl scouts have been noble parts of this fine Pumpkin Show. They have assisted in handling the enormous crowds, have opened lines for the parade and have done many other things worthy of commend.

We hope General Johnson doesn't get lonesome for someone to crack down on.

Floyd Co., Ky., seven persons have been indicted on charges of fraudulently converting a total of $122,500 in federal relief money.
The defendants include the mayor of Prestonburg, a county judge and a minister.

Widespread irregularities in connection with the administration of federal relief are reported to exist in Chicago and Cook Co., Ill., with thousands of persons being on relief rolls who are not entitled to have their names there. Similar reports come from other sections of the country.

Federal Relief Administrator Hopkins recently asserted that conditions such as indicated in Kentucky and Chicago prevailed to a large extent in relief work as now being carried on.

The matter is one that should call for prompt action by the proper authorities. If the Kentucky indictments mean that a general cleanup has been begun, they are of far more than local importance.
Millions of dollars of taxpayers' money is going ostensibly into relief work. How much of this is finding its way into dishonest pockets is a question of vital interest to the public, which feels the relief bills.

The guilt or innocence of those indicted in Kentucky is a question for a jury to decide. But no leniency should be shown in any case where relief funds have been improperly used.

Construction Rises

FAILURE of the construction industry to show signs of revival has been one of the discouraging features with the recovery program.

That a change is beginning to show itself now gives a brighter coloring to the picture.

According to Dun and Bradstreet, in a review of 215 cities building permits issued during August totaled in value $34,000, 000. This represented an increase of 1 1/2 per cent over July. The rise, although small, takes on more importance than the figures would seem to justify when it is remembered that the gain was made at a season when, normally, there is a decline. Further significance is given it also in the fact that the August figures were 6.3 per cent greater than the figures for the same month last year.
A general revival of the construction industry would give a decided boost to general recovery.
The August increase may indicate that the long-expected upward turn in building has begun, and that a more rapid rise from now on will occur. If so, its importance hardly can be overestimated.

DEATH SONG

by JOAN CLAYTON AND MALCOLM LOGAN

SYNOPSIS

Seifert Vail, former opera singer, is stabbed to death in Lakeside Cottage of exclusive Sherwood Forest Sanatorium. Vail brooded constantly over his wife's death.
He continuously played the phonograph record "Waiting For You."
His wedding theme sung in his own voice. This record was playing at the time of his death. A maid discovered Vail's body in bed when she went into his room to turn off the record. Willis Clendenning, Milton Cross and James Ruxton, the millionaire, share the cottage with Vail. Ruxton's favorite nephew, and heir, Loren Ruxton, and Dr.
John Calvert are rivals for the affections of Sue Faraday, a nurse.
Mark Hillier, the playwright, crippled from arthritis and bored by the monotony of sanatorium life, welcomes a little excitement. He sends his secretary, Bob Fowler, to investigate the trouble at Lakeside Cottage. It is discovered that Vail's room has a private entrance which opens directly on the grounds. Dr. Calvert claims Vail had been dead an hour before the phonograph started playing. Sheriff Dave Finn arrives. Ruxton changed rooms with Vail the day before as Vail was expecting a guest he was anxious to receive secretly, which the private entrance in Ruxton's room afforded.
Clendenning claims that Vail received a letter from New York two days before his death. The police locate some photographs but no letter. An empty revolver is found in Vail's room. Felipa, the maid, is questioned. She had come out of Vail's room screaming that he had been murdered even though the body was covered with a sheet and she could not see the wounds.
Felipa appears to be withholding information.

CHAPTER XI

The rumpled condition of Mark's bedclothes and the wild disorder of his pale, thin hair witnessed that he had been waiting very impatiently for my return from Lakeside Cottage. As soon as I stepped into the room he said, "What did you do, stay for tea?"

"No," I answered, "for the sheriff.
Vail was murdered."

"You're telling me?" Mark jeered.
"I found that out without leaving my bed. What I want to know is how, why and by what benefactor of society?"

"Why weren't you able to find that out too?" I asked, somewhat irritated by the calm way in which he had received my news.

"Sorry, Bob," Mark said. "I shouldn't have crabbled your big scene, but it's still a fat part. Let's hear the story."

"All right. Vail was stabbed, that's how he was killed. You'll have to ask the sheriff your two other questions."

"You don't seem very convinced that the sheriff will be able to answer them."

"I'm not," I said. "It's got more complications than one of your melodramas, Mark. Vail was stabbed to death in his room during rest period."

"During rest period?" he asked, heavily accenting the first word.

"Yes, that's one of the complications," I told him, then, everything I had learned in my hour at the cottage. He listened intently and did not interrupt me once, though he fidgeted uneasily and smoked one cigarette after another. I told him of the expected visitor; of the phonograph record that began to play an hour after he had been killed; of the change of rooms and the private entrance to Vail's room; of Felipa, a strange certainty that he had been murdered and of the unloaded revolver in his bureau.
When I had concluded, he expressed his opinion in a long, low whistle.

"Well, I asked for it," he said,
"and I got it."

"Now you've got to do it with it?"
"Find out what it's all about," he answered.

"I've known you, man and boy, for twenty years, and I never knew you were a detective."

Japanese Seek, Fail to Get Non-Aggression Pact
With U. S. in Pacific

WASHINGTON — One of the most amazing and closely guarded diplomatic secrets is that regarding Japan's several proposals for an alliance with the United States.

The Japanese, however, did not put it as crudely as that. They used the word Non-Aggression Pact, but it meant the same thing.

The idea, first proposed by Viscount Ishii just before the London Economic Conference, has bobbed up time and again, but until recently would the Japanese definitely take No for an answer.

Marion Smith, one of Roosevelt's new labor arbiters, once sent a bill to the Public Works Administration for teaching law to PWA lawyers. Smith had come up from Atlanta, Ga., to try to get a PWA grant for a sewer, claimed PWA lawyers know nothing of law. He got neither the sewer nor his expense bill.

"I'm just in the process of becoming one—the only bedridden detective in history." He stretched his arms vigorously. "At last Vail's justified his existence. At last something's happened! I feel like I've been let out of prison! When I find the guy who erased Vail I'll probably kiss him."

I am certain I would have expressed some moral and disapproving opinion about his joyful reaction to murder if Sue had not entered and informed me with as much severity as she could command that I had stayed ten minutes past visiting hour.

"Come back after dinner," Mark said. "I've got lots of things to talk to you about."

"All I can remember is how alive and expressive she was physically," said Calvert.

When I returned in the hot evening Mark resumed our conversation as though it had been interrupted only a minute.

I've been thinking about Vail and realizing that I know practically nothing about him. He was a disagreeable egotistic misanthrope who used to sing in the opera. His wife died, he lost his voice and he came to Sherwood Forest, existing here without any visible means of support. Pretty strange, isn't it?"

"Rather," I said.

"And another thing. For two years he talked about himself to anyone who would listen. Then suddenly he became secretive. He loved to be gossiped about, but he decided he had to receive his visitor in utmost privacy. To accomplish that, he persuaded Ruxton to change rooms with him."

"If the sheriff had only found that letter from New York that Clendenning saw—"

"I'm not sure the letter was so important," Mark answered. "Is it probable that Vail would go to such lengths to keep the others in Lakeside from seeing a visitor from New York? They wouldn't be likely to know any of Vail's acquaintances from New York, but they would recognize someone from the sanatorium."

"Are you looking for a woman in the case?"

He grinned. "No, I don't think it was anything like that. Up here everyone knows you're having an affair the minute you look at an ankle." He paused. "Anyway, I don't think his visitor stuck that knife between Vail's ribs. He wasn't expecting a dangerous guest, or he'd have had his revolver loaded and handy."

There was a knock at the door and at Mark's bidding John Calvert entered. Mark beamed at him.
"Hello, John. Sit down and join us. Can you guess what we're talking about?"

"The doctor smiled wearily. 'The murder,' he said. 'You seem to be enjoying it. Every patient here thinks Vail was murdered for his diversion.'"

"It's natural, John, in a place where there's nothing to do. I'm interested, myself—so interested that I've decided to solve it. Tell me, John, what do you know about Vail?"

"Not much more than you do, Mark."

"You were his physician in New York, weren't you?"

"Yes, I met him several years ago when I was assistant to Dr. Deming, the throat specialist. Vail had just joined the Metropolitan then."

"Has he any relatives?"

"A sister," the doctor said. "I don't think they were on good terms. We've just located her in Bernadette and notified her."

"How long had Vail been married when his wife died?"

"Less than a year."

"Who was his wife. Did you know her?"

"I met her once or twice," the physician said. "She was a dancer.
Nobody seemed to know where she came from."

"Beautiful, I suppose?" Mark said. "Vail was too much of an egotist to marry a woman who wasn't."

"I considered her pretty rather than beautiful," he said. "Her body was much lovelier than her face."
He hesitated, marshalling his memories of her. "Some women express themselves entirely with their bodies, and she was one. I can't remember a single word she ever said, and very little that she did. She certainly wasn't intelligent, and though she played the piano a little, even Vail knew she hardly comprehended music."

"How alive and expressive she was physically. When a person like that dies, she's gone—utterly."

Colitis Is Not A Nervous Disorder

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

FOR MANY years there has been confusion over a rather common disease known to the doctor as "mucous colitis." It used to be regarded as a nervous disorder and, as its name indicates, as a catarrhal inflammation of the colon or large intestine. It usually follows chronic constipation. This is believed by many physicians to be the underlying cause. Some patients have persistent diarrhea. As a rule, it is the latter symptom that drives the patient to the doctor.

Many persons continue to confuse the disease with other affections of the intestine with similar symptoms. Mucous colitis, as its name indicates, is a catarrhal inflammation of the colon or large intestine. It usually follows chronic constipation. This is believed by many physicians to be the underlying cause. Some patients have persistent diarrhea. As a rule, it is the latter symptom that drives the patient to
the doctor.

Diet Is Beneficial
The sufferer of mucous colitis often complains of severe, persistent and colicky abdominal pain. This pain is not relieved by ordinary remedies and the sufferer soon becomes weak, extremely nervous, irritable and restless.

Once the diagnosis has been made, relief can be offered by special diet and treatments. It is wise to avoid luxuries and mineral waters, fried and greasy foods, salt, peppers, spices and condiments. The diet should be simple, nutritious and easily digested.

Since each case presents its own problem, it is advisable to follow strictly the special diet prescribed by your doctor. For example, milk is harmful to certain sufferers from colitis but may be taken by others.
In many cases, eggs should not be eaten.

In the treatment of colitis, it is essential to keep the colon emptied and clean. This should not be accomplished by cathartics or other drastic drugs. Instead, use every day hot or very warm irrigation. This treatment is best when done just before retiring.

Watch the General Health

In severe cases, irrigation of the bowel with oil has been found useful in lessening irritation. The oil is retained for at least ten hours. During the period of treatment, the patient should be confined to bed and every effort made to build up the general health.

If after continued treatment no change or permanent relief is obtained, it is possible that the colitis is due to a more serious cause than simple catarrh of the intestine. In that event examination by means of a special instrument may be important. By its use the interior of the intestine and the condition of the lining of the walls can be visualized.
In this way, deformities can be detected and the form of treatment will be suggested.

Answers to Health Queries

J. M. Q.—How can I gain weight?
2: What should a boy 18 years old,
5 feet 8 inches tall weigh?

A.—Eat plenty of good nourishing food and get plenty of sleep. Send self-addressed, stamped envelope for further particulars and repeat your question. 2: He should weigh about 140 pounds. This is about the average weight for one of this age and height, as determined by examination of a large number of persons. A few pounds above or below the average is a matter of little or no significance.

L. C. K. Q.—What treatment do you advise for acne?

A.—Correct your diet and keep your system clear. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

PATTERN 9168
What could be more cunning than this square little dress for a round little girl? And by the way, squares are "just the thing" this year. The yoke, back and front, gives the impression of buttoning down over the top of the bod-pleats. The neck and sleeves are trimmed with demure little collar and cuffs of contrasting material.
This model includes a pattern for matching bloomers. Made up for colder weather in a bright gay woolen—either plaids or checks are very smart—or in a pretty gingham to wear right now, it will appeal to the heart of the most clothes-conscious young miss.

PATTERN 9168 may be ordered only in sizes 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 4 requires 2 yards 36 inch fabric

By PAT ROBINSON.
ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—Paul ("Daffy") Dean, younger of the delicious Deans, has gone on strike. Not, I hasten to assure you, against the Cardinals, but against brother Dizzy.

All his life Daffy has been a perfect foil for Dizzy. He's sat in the shadow while Dizzy grabbed the spotlight. He's been silent while Dizzy bragged. He's been the ideal stooge, the incomparable "yes" man for Dizzy.

But no more. There's a new Daffy now. A Daffy who demands his place in the baseball sun. The new Daffy came to light just after he had not only matched but bettered Dizzy's performance against the Tigers.

THE WORM TURNS

The metamorphosis took place in the clubhouse. As Daffy entered, Dizzy was saying: "Daffy, I tell you how this series would be—me and Paul, that's all."

And right there was where Daffy threw off his master's yoke and spoke his little piece to the amusement of the Cards and the amazement of brother Dizzy.

"Where do you get that 'me and Paul' stuff," demanded Daffy. "How about me saying 'me and Dizzy' for a change? I guess I ain't so poor my own self."

Delaney, the 19-year-old catcher, who handles both the Deans, was off to one side explaining quietly how Daffy did it: "He had more speed than Dizzy out there today. We used nothing but fast balls to get rid of every hitter. Every hit they made was made off a fast ball. We just wasted the curve. He was a little wild, but that was because he was putting too much on the ball. He was bearing down too hard."

CARLETON TODAY

"Nervous in a jam? That bird? Say, those Deans are too nutty to have any nerves. Now in this next game I figure Tex Carleton will be just as tough for them because he's a side wheeler and his delivery will be a lot different to look at after seeing Daffy."

TIGERS SHOW NO POWER IN 34-0 DEFEAT

Marysville Presents Smooth Attack With Graham Proving Outstanding.

Circleville high school gridders, Friday, continued their losing streak which has now reached an undetermined number of set-backs when Marysville's team, not rated nearly so high as some other teams in the Central Buckeye league, administered a 34 to 0 dose of calcimine. The game was played at Marysville.

The Marysville 30 yard line where Speakman carried an intercepted pass was the nearest the Tigers ever got the ball to a scoring position.

The fray was the third in a row this year in which the locals have even failed to treat the enemy goal line.

It was just a case of Marysville playing good football and Circleville doing just the opposite. Jerry Kingmore's boys turned in a varied attack with a good passer, Graham, keeping the Tiger secondary in fear of a well-placed heave throughout. Two of the Union countyans' touchdowns came on long passes perfectly executed. The other came as the result of drives down the field.

The score by quarters was: Marysville: 6 7 14 7—34.

The Union-co team scored 14 first downs against two for the Tigers making three first downs for the locals in the last two games.

Scoring: touchdowns, Graham, 2; Hurd, 2; Simpson. Points after touchdown: Graham, 4.

Officials: White, Ohio university, referee; Red Kingsmore, Marysville, umpire; Cress, Circleville, head linesman.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

PAUL IN FORM

"Fireball Paul," younger of the Dean brothers, carved himself a niche in the world series half of fame Friday afternoon when he showed a crowd in Sportman's park just how baseball should be pitched in the clutch. Several times a Detroit hit might have at least tied up the ball game but Paul shot that apple down through there every time he needed to do so.

WHITE STARS

Howard White, Chillicothe's con-

MacArthur to Finish Army Job?

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who was appointed chief of staff by former President Hoover in 1930, the youngest chief in the army's history, appears certain of reappointment to succeed himself at the expiration of his four-year term. Secretary of War George H. Dern is said to be anxious for him to continue because he wants the general to finish his task of motorizing the nation's military forces. The officer assertedly has been influential in securing for the army a slice of a $115,000,000 appropriation for ordnance and ammunition obtained from the PWA civil funds chest.

tribution to Circleville, carried off plenty of laurels at Dayton Friday evening when he led the Ohio Wesleyan team to a 21-0 victory. White sprinted 40 yards for one touchdown and placed the ball in scoring position for both others. Brother Dean entered the game for a short time at the end of the first half—He is not in the best physical condition.

TORONTO VICTORIOUS

Both teams scored four runs in the first inning Friday night but Toronto added two more to defeat the Red Birds, 6-4, making the little world series standing now three and two with Columbus leading—Ed Greer was ineffective and so was Gene Schott at the start but Hilcher bested Klinger in a duel part of the way. Riggs clubbed a home run for the Birds.

A NEW RECORD?

It's beyond our recollection when a high school football team representing Circleville high school was held to three first downs in two grid games—Anyway that's what the present edition has done, one at Lancaster and two at Marysville—Incidentally but few of this year's team members are under classmen which makes things look dreary for next year.

Circleville's opponents: Grandview, 25; Delaware, 6; Bexley, 7; Westerville, 7.

Charles F. Weaver, son of the owner, passed away. He had served for 25 years prior to that as a salesman for the Weaver firm and was one of the best known men in central Ohio, his acquaintance being broadened through his daily travels into scores of towns and villages. He was one of Circleville's most respected men.

Mr. Fullen was active in civic affairs and was chairman of the Pickaway-co Re-employment service committee. He was active in the Sunday school of the Methodist church and also in its Men's club.

HAS TWO CHILDREN

He was married May 6, 1894, to Matilda McKinley, who survives him with two children, Ruth, wife of Clarence Hott, of Columbus, and Charles of Northridge-rd. There are also three grandchildren, Ann Hott and David and Dickie Fullen. Mr. and Mrs. Hott were in Binghamton, N. Y., when Mr. Fullen met his death but fortunately they were reached by telephone and are now on their way here. Binghamton is more than 800 miles from Circleville.

A sister, Mrs. Jennie Boganrife, of Tacoma, Washington, also survives.

The funeral will be Monday at 3 p. m. in the Methodist church with Rev. Herman Sayre assisted by Rev. T. C. Harper officiating. Interment will be in Forest cemetery by Mr. Rinehart, a close personal friend of the deceased.

Girl Reserves To Initiate Ten New Members On October 18.

The constitution of the Senior Girl Reserves was amended at their first meeting, Thursday, September 27.

The constitution now reads: "The number of members to be taken in, and the number of initiations to be held shall be decided at the first meeting of each year."

It was decided to hold one initiation a year and to admit ten members. The initiation will be Thursday evening, October 18. Formerly, there were two initiations held each year; the former in October and the latter in February.

The club has accepted the invitation extended by the H-Y to hold joint social meetings again this year.

Chairmen of the program, service and committees are Anne Thacker, Alice Griner, and Margie Mader, respectively.

The book "Eighteen" will be discussed on the programs. This book was used in the club last year and proved so successful that it will be continued. The book was written by C. A. Miller.

The question of again dividing the club into hobby groups was discussed. Last year there were two: the Athletic and Nature group and the Music and Dramatics. A third group may be added this year.

Faculty advisers are Miss Watson and Miss Rains.

THANK YOU!

Without the splendid cooperation on the part of the parents and the business and industrial firms of the city the Pumpkin show parade could not have been a success.

The schools of the city wish to thank all those who helped so generously.

Here Again

WHEN the third of October rolls around And all the people come to town, You take a ride on the "Tilt-a-Whirl" Or the "Ferris Wheel," with your best girl.

For parades and pumpkins, prizes are given, Now is the time when you're glad you're livin'!

There is something exciting in the air, There are pumpkins and pumpkins everywhere.

Then all of a sudden you seem to know, "Why, of course, its Circleville's Pumpkin Show!"

Jack E. Brown, 1937.

student opinion

QUESTION:

What suggestions do you believe would help the appearance of the north side of the high school building?

ANSWERS:

Dick Plum—junior. The best thing in my opinion would be to build a bicycle rack on the north side of the school building.

A good present by a graduating class or classes then would be to improve the appearance of the north hill by landscaping.

Doris Lindsey—senior. I suggest that shrubbery or fir trees be planted where bare ground is now.

Perhaps the school could lay a cement bicycle runway from the alley up to the building.

Mark S. Maxey—senior. I think that conditions could be greatly improved by taking out dilapidated fence between the coal bin and the third post along the alley. This could be replaced by a bicycle rack built by the manual training department.

At the western end of the rack steps could be built up the bank. The gravel-covered slopes could either be regraded or sodded, leaving little trace of its present drabness.

Howard Richardson—senior. First level off the side of the north bank. Then sod it and plant shrubs along the side of the building.

Hedge should then be planted along the alley.

ORCHESTRA TO PLAY FOR TEACHERS MEET

Earlier this year than usual will be the initial public appearance of the High School orchestra when it will play at the all-county teachers' gathering on Saturday, October 13.

The program will be given during the luncheon hour in the school gym. The selections of the orchestra will precede an after-dinner address by the Rev. Mr. Tippett of the Bexley M. E. church.

Mr. Zaenglein is planning several practices as soon as a let-up of the Pumpkin Show activities gives an opportunity.

Bids for the individual senior photographs will be acted upon in time this year so that the class of '35' will receive their pictures near Christmas.

Last year the pictures were taken in March; but this year they will be made soon enough to be used as Christmas gifts.

Only the local photographers will be eligible to submit bids.

Commercial Department Is Running Full Speed

The commercial department is running at full speed.

The beginners' classes are studying the fundamentals of bookkeeping and typewriting, while the advanced classes have taken up the work where they ended last year.

At present the latter are studying controlling accounts.

Grad on Office Staff

Ruth Newland, a graduate of the class of '34, has been assisting with the work in Mr. Gephart's office.

In addition to her office work, Ruth has been working in Ebert's Soda Grill part of the time.

Last year Ruth was on the Red and Black staff and associate editor of the "Circle."

To Use Private Cars

Because of the lack of funds to charter buses, private cars will be used this season for the high school football team.

The new uniforms caused a drain on the treasury this year.

Choose New Managers

Junior managers are Cecil Andrews and Hildeburn Jones.

The duties of the managers include taking care of the locker rooms, the teams' equipment, etc.

Day Sends Day at Castalia, Ohio

"One of the most beautiful things I have ever seen," said Mr. Day, "was the 'Blue Hole' at Castalia, Ohio, which I visited Saturday."

The water of this well-known Ohio scenic attraction is very blue and one may see in it what appears to be snow-covered mountains and forests covered with snow. The Blue Hole is approximately 50 or 60 feet deep and no fish can live in this water because it is ice-cold.

Castalia is located in Erie county and is within an easy half day's drive from Circleville.

Six Schools Are In Association—Who Will Win Is Question.

On the Marysville field yesterday the Circleville high gridders opened another Central Buckeye league football campaign by taking on the team of that city.

In the past three years the "Tigers" have taken back seats in the Central Buckeye league running.

In 1931 C. H. S. finished fifth in 1933 Bexley and Westerville (tied)

1934 ??????

the league of six schools, dropping four and winning one till.

In 1932 the Circleville boys jumped to fourth position with three defeats and two victories.

Last year proved disastrous to the "Red and Black" when they lost four, tied one, and failed to win a single league affair.

The Central Buckeye league was formed in the spring of 1929 and competition began in the fall of 1930.

Six schools make up the league: Bexley, Delaware, Grandview, Circleville, Marysville, and Westerville.

In order to be eligible for membership in this league, teams must compete one year with other teams in the league.

ERECT CLASSES' MEMORIAL SOON

Two beautiful lights which have been presented class gifts to C. H. S. by the classes of '32-'33 are to be placed at the lower front steps of the high school building.

The memorials will be eleven feet high and will be placed on standards.

Band to Play For History Day Event

According to custom, the High School band will give a concert at the History day celebration which will be held at Logan Elm, tomorrow.

This has been an annual engagement of the band for the past four or five years.

Transportation for Band Is Requested

It is requested that friends of the High School band who are going to Logan Elm tomorrow stop at the High School building and take one or more band members with them.

The band is scheduled to arrive at Logan Elm at 2 o'clock.

Much appreciation is due to the patrons of our school who have responded to similar announcements.

Two New Pupils Enter

Ethel Stonerock, a senior, who has been recovering from an appendicitis operation will return to school Monday.

Jeanne Zurmehle, a freshman, has enrolled in C. H. S. She attended Wayne-twp school at West-laf last year and prior to her registration here she went to Centralia high school at Centralia, Ohio.

BIOLOGY CLASSES ARRANGE DISPLAY

Attracting much interest in the high school are the leaves which have been mounted and placed on display in room 24. The display is a gorgeous one, and worthy of everyone's attention.

Among some of the most interesting collections are those made by Emily Gunning, Mary Newmyer, Mary Jane Schiear, and Laddie Goeller.

These collections, some of which have been very skillfully gone, have been made by the Freshman and Senior biology classes under the supervision of Miss Hitler.

Cresses Spend Weekend In Michigan Fishing

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Cress of this city and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cress of Troy, Ohio, drove to Michigan last Friday evening to spend the weekend.

The party fished at Reynolds lake near Laurence, Michigan.

Mr. Cress reports the fishing quite good although the weather was very cold. Blue gills and bass were the main catch of the anglers.

How Cochrane Received Spiking in Home Slide

Rivalry between the St. Louis Cardinals and the Detroit Tigers has been intensified as a result of the spiking of Manager Mickey Cochrane, Tiger catcher, by Joe Medwick, Card outfielder, when the latter was thrown out as he slid into home plate in the third inning of the second game at Detroit. This photo shows the play, which some sport observers hint is a suggestion of bad blood between the two teams. Medwick's left leg can be seen striking Cochrane, as the umpire calls him out.
